Smoke-Free Barbara McLintock,2004 Award winning journalist and author Barbara McLintock uses the example of BC s capital city Victoria as a case study to show how a region can not only pass legislation but implement it and enforce it with such effectiveness that the compliance rate now exceeds 99 per cent The story is a dramatic narrative in its own right replete with details of harrowing public meetings widespread early defiance of the law in drinking establishments an often hostile media climate and even death threats to those responsible for implementation and enforcement But it also shows the benefits of enacting such a law not just through improved air quality for patrons and workers but also how such a bylaw results in a reduced smoking rate in the population and growing popularity for the measure even amongst smokers This book is a must read for every non smokers rights advocate every public health official and every local or state legislator who s exploring the idea of enacting smoke free legislation But it also makes compelling reading for anyone interested in a true life insider drama that offers a close up view of a controversial public policy

Regulating Tobacco, Alcohol and Unhealthy Foods Tania Voon,Andrew Mitchell,Jonathan Liberman,2014-07-25 The need to reduce disability and premature deaths from non communicable diseases NCDs is increasingly engaging international organisations and national and sub national governments In this book experts from a range of backgrounds provide insights into the legal implications of regulating tobacco alcohol and unhealthy foods all of which are risk factors for NCDs As individual countries and the international community move to increase targeting of these risk factors affected industries are turning to national and international law to challenge the resulting regulations This book explores how the effective regulation of tobacco alcohol and unhealthy foods can be achieved within the context of international health law international trade and investment law international human rights law international intellectual property law and domestic laws on constitutional and other matters Its contributors consider the various tensions that arise in regulating NCD risk factors as well as offering an original analysis of the relationship between evidence and health regulation Covering a range of geographical areas including the Americas the European Union Africa and Oceania the book offers lessons for health and policy practitioners and scholars in navigating the complex legal fields in which the regulation of tobacco alcohol and unhealthy foods takes place     Reducing the Health Consequences of Smoking United States. Public Health Service. Office of the Surgeon General,1989     Encyclopedia of American Civil Rights and Liberties: A-G Otis H. Stephens (Jr.),John M. Meeker,2010-10-25 Public health is of concern to practicing chiropractors as well as chiropractic students The vast majority of chiropractors utilize public health concepts every day as an integral part of patient care For instance they give advice on risk factors that should be avoided and protective factors to be added by their patients to enhance healing and prevent illness Pubic health is also part of the curriculum at all chiropractic colleges and is tested by the National Board No public health textbooks are available that are specifically designed for the chiropractor Consequently college instructors are forced to make do with class notes and generic texts that do not address the specific issues relevant to chiropractic This book will not only be of interest to chiropractic students but also practicing chiropractors because it will provide information they can utilize to provide better care by positively intervening with their patients and their communities regarding public health matters     Smoking Prevention and Cessation Giuseppe La Torre,2013-07-03 Tobacco smoking is considered the big killer and one of the most avoidable risk factors for many human pathologies Reducing and controlling tobacco smoking should be a primary aim for a certain population in order to reduce harms to health caused by this important risk factor and it seems urgent to adopt intervention tools involved in responsibility fields such as health care education politics economy and media Among health professionals the prevalence of tobacco smoke is extremely high more than other professional categories and this could be partly attributed to a low weight that tobacco smoking has in the medical curriculum of future physicians that will contribute in a determinant way to healthy choices of their patients In order to realise that the medical students need to be adequately trained with the aim of acquire competences and skills that help patients to prevent tobacco smoking and to increase smoking cessation through a programme oriented to specific issue related to the potential harm of tobacco products A survey conducted by Ferry et al in the American Schools of Medicine underlined the lack of courses related to tobacco smoking Moreover a randomised trial carried out by Cummings et al the Schools of Medicine result as the ideal setting to teach smoking cessation techniques to health professionals The National Cancer Institute in 1992 recommended that primary and secondary prevention interventions on tobacco smoking will become mandatory in the curriculum of Medical USA students However until now this recommendation still is far from being fully implemented The aim of the book is to give an overview on the epidemiology of tobacco smoking among different settings and populations but with a special focus on health professionals and medicals students and to show available examples of smoking prevention and cessation training in different settings

Oxford Textbook of Global Public Health Roger Detels, 2015 Sixth edition of the hugely successful internationally recognised textbook on global public health and epidemiology with 3 volumes comprehensively covering the scope methods and practice of the discipline Journal of the National Cancer Institute, 2004-05 Each issue is packed with extensive news about important cancer related science policy politics and people Plus there are editorials and reviews by experts in the field book reviews and commentary on timely topics
