Social Work Research and Evaluation Richard M. Grinnell, Yvonne A. Unrau, 2005 This book is the longest standing and most widely adopted text in the field of social work research and evaluation Since the first edition in 1981 it has been designed to provide beginning social work students the basic methodological foundation they need in order to successfully complete more advanced research courses that focus on single system designs or program evaluations Its content is explained in extraordinarily clear everyday language which is then illustrated with social work examples that social work students not only can understand but appreciate as well Many of the examples concern women and minorities and special emphasis is given to the application of research methods to the study of these groups Without a doubt the major strength of this book is that it is written by social workers for social work students The editors have once again secured an excellent and diverse group of social work research educators The 31 contributors know firsthand from their own extensive teaching and practice experiences what social work students need to know in relation to research They have subjected themselves to a discipline totally uncommon in compendia that is writing in terms of what is most needed for an integrated basic research methods book rather than writing in line with their own predilections

Evaluating Social Work Services and Programs Robert W. Weinbach, 2005 Program Evaluation uses a practical reader friendly approach to demystify evaluation research clarifying evaluation's relationship to social work practice and providing the knowledge necessary to conduct it This book assumes some familiarity with traditional research methods and basic statistics or are currently studying them It contains all necessary definitions and brief explanations of essential research terminology and concepts However it relates them directly to their usage in evaluation research which is often quite different from the way they are used in traditional research Well organized with excellent flow from chapter to chapter Program Evaluation does not read like a research methods book making it the most accessible book on evaluation research available

Social Work with Older People: Approaches to Person-Centred Practice Barbara Hall, Terry Scragg, 2012-03-16 This accessible book takes a unique person centred approach to working with older people and provides an introduction to the legislation policy theory and research needed by social workers The authors explore the experience of being an older person and how practitioners can work to make positive differences to older people's lives In addition the book Goes beyond the mechanistic care management approaches to social work and encourages the reader to see older people holistically Features case studies and exercises to assist readers in reflecting on their practice Examines a range of contexts and perspectives including sexuality spirituality learning disabilities Encourages wider reflection on the constraints posed by organisations employing social workers and the impact on their practice Provides an up to date exploration of safeguarding issues The authors take into account financial constraints with regard to the care of older people and the impact of a changing demography but remain upbeat and positive about the value of social work intervention Social Work with Older People is relevant for students on placement in adult services or voluntary organizations and social work practitioners working with older people Contributors Gill Butler Rick Fisher Chris Gaine David Gaylard John Gisby Vivienne Killner Andrea Linell Andy Mantell Debbie Smallbones Chris Smethurst Sally Stapleton Graham Tooth Christine Wright
