Learning Trajectories, Innovation and Identity for Professional Development Anne Mc Kee, Michael Eraut, 2011-09-18 Educators in the professions have always had unique demands placed upon them These include the need to keep pace with rapidly evolving knowledge bases developing skills and attitudes appropriate to practice learning in the workplace and fostering public confidence For twenty years these new demands have created additional educational imperatives Public accountability has become more intensive and extensive Practitioners practice in climates more subject to scrutiny and less forgiving of error The contexts in which professionals practice and learn have changed and these changes involve global issues and problems Often professionals are the first responders who are required to take an active stance in defining and solving problems This book explores the pedagogic implications of these challenges internationally for a wide range of professions which include accountants military company commanders surgeons nurse practitioners academic managers community physicians and dentists The established view of professional development is about what the professional knows and can do The authors broaden this view to include the systemic and contextual factors that affect learning and the conditions necessary for effective practice and identity development across the professional lifespan Authors examine the unique particularities and requirements of diverse professional groups The editors emphasize new ideas and learning that emerges across the professions As readers use this book as a pathway to their own innovations in scholarship and pedagogic research they join their colleagues in supporting new directions in learning teaching and assessment across professions This book was awarded the Outstanding Research Publication award for 2012 by the American Educational Research Association s Division I Education in the Professions p Using the Engineering Literature, Second Edition Bonnie A. Osif, 2011-08-09 With the encroachment of the Internet into nearly all aspects of work and life it seems as though information is everywhere However there is information and then there is correct appropriate and timely information While we might love being able to turn to Wikipedia for encyclopedia like information or search Google for the thousands of

The Innovation Imperative for Developing East Asia Xavier Cirera, Andrew D. Mason, Francesca de Nicola, Smita Kuriakose, Davide S. Mare, Trang Thu Tran, 2021-05-07. After a half century of transformative economic progress that moved hundreds of millions of people out of poverty, countries in developing East Asia are facing an array of challenges to their future development. Slowed productivity growth, increased fragility of the global trading system, and rapid changes in technology are all threatening export-oriented, labor-intensive manufacturing, the region's engine of growth. Significant global challenges such as climate change and the COVID-19 pandemic are exacerbating economic vulnerability. These developments raise questions about whether the region's past model of development can continue to deliver rapid growth and poverty reduction. Against this background, The Innovation Imperative in Developing East Asia aims to deepen understanding of the role of innovation in future development. The report examines the state of innovation in the region and analyzes the main constraints that firms and countries face to innovating. It assesses current policies and institutions and lays out an agenda for action to spur more innovation-led growth. A key finding of the report is that countries' current innovation policies are not aligned with their capabilities and needs. Policies need to strengthen the capacity of firms to innovate and support technological diffusion rather than just invention. Policy makers also need to eliminate policy biases against innovation in services, a sector that is growing in economic importance. Moreover, countries need to strengthen key complementary factors for innovation, including firms' managerial quality, workers' skills, and finance for innovation. Countries in developing East Asia would also do well to deepen their tradition of international openness, which could foster openness in other parts of the world. Doing so would help sustain the flows of ideas, trade, investment, and people that facilitate the creation and diffusion of knowledge for innovation.
