Matthew Hilton, James McKay, Nicholas Crowson, Jean-François Mouhot, 2013-04-25 The Politics of Expertise offers a challenging new interpretation of politics in contemporary Britain through an examination of non governmental organisations Using specific case studies of the homelessness environment and international aid and development sectors it demonstrates how politics and political activism has changed over the last half century NGOs have contributed enormously to a professionalization and a privatization of politics emerging as a new form of expert knowledge and political participation They have been led by a new breed of non party politician working in collaboration and in competition with government Skilful navigators of the modern technocratic state they have brought expertise to expertise and in so doing have changed the nature of grassroots activism As affluent citizens have felt marginalised by the increasingly complex nature of many policy solutions they have made the rational calculation to support NGOs the professionalism and resources of which make them better able to tackle complex problems Yet in doing so support rather than participation becomes the more appropriate way to describe the relationship of the public to NGOs As voter turnout has declined membership and trust in NGOs has increased But NGOs are very different types of organisations from the classic democratic institutions of political parties and the labour movement They maintain different and varied relationships with the publics they seek to represent Attracting mass support has provided them with the resources and the legitimacy to speak to power on a bewildering range of issues yet perhaps the ultimate victors in this new form of politics are the NGOs themselves Routledge Library Editions:

Donald Rodney Richard Hylton, 2025-01-23

Donald Rodney 1961-1998 was one of the most gifted perceptive and innovative contemporary British artists of his time. A protagonist from the first generation of Black British born art students in the early 1980s, Rodney and his peers brought a new dynamic to British art: a hitherto unseen interplay between aesthetics, politics, humour, and Black consciousness. Donald Rodney: Art Race and the Body Politic is the first book-length study of a protean practice which spanned the early 1980s to the late 1990s and included a prodigious output of work across painting, photography, collage, assemblage, sculpture, installation, and new technologies. Across eight meticulously researched chapters, the book examines the social and cultural events which inspired Rodney's artwork and the responses it elicited. From his formative years in the West Midlands as a leading exponent of Black Art to a subsequent decade of unbridled visual innovation and social critique, the book ventures new detailed analyses of key works, exhibitions, artistic influences, and collaborations. Deploying recurring metaphors of the diseased, traumatised, and raced body, Rodney addressed racial and social inequality, legacies of slavery, police brutality, sport, and Black male identity in novel and powerful ways. Attending to the artist's material dexterity and visual acuity, the book considers how and why Rodney's innovative practice uniquely challenged delineations between the political and non-political, personal and public representation and visibility. Over a generation has passed since Rodney's premature death from the effects of the hereditary blood disorder sickle cell anaemia at aged thirty-six. Despite this, Rodney's work continues to speak to our contemporary moment in a multiplicity of ways. As such, the book provides a much-needed critical perspective and insight to the work and legacy of a nonpareil British artist.

John Bull's Island

Colin Holmes, 2015-10-16

There is a strong but unreliable view that immigration is a marginal and recent phenomenon. In fact, immigrants and refugees have come to Britain throughout its recorded history. In this book, first published in 1988, Colin Holmes looks at this period in depth and asks who were the newcomers and why were they coming. What were the distinctive features of their economic and social lives in Britain? How did British society respond to their presence? The resulting book is a major historical survey of immigration which synthesises and evaluates existing work and weaves in new material on a wide range of immigrant minorities.

Secular Martyrdom in Britain and Ireland

Quentin Outram, Keith Laybourn, 2018-01-30

This edited collection examines the concept and nature of the people's martyrology, raising issues of class, community, religion, and authority. It examines modern martyrdom through studies of Peterloo, Tolpuddle, Featherstone, Tony Pandy, Emily Davison (fatally injured by the King's horse on Derby Day 1913), the 1916 Easter Rising, Jarrow, the town that was murdered and martyred in the 1930s, David Oluwale, a Nigerian killed in Leeds in 1965, and Bobby Sands, the IRA hunger striker who died in 1981. It engages with the burgeoning historiography of memory to try to understand why some events such as Peterloo, Tony Pandy, and the Easter Rising have become household names whilst others, most notably Featherstone and Oluwale, are barely known. It will appeal to those interested in British and Irish labour history as well as the study of memory and memorialization.

The First Miscarriage of Justice Jon Robins,2014-10-20 I would have been the first miscarriage of justice There was this spate of cases the Birmingham Six Guildford Four and Cardiff Three Each one was another nail in my coffin Tony Stock 2008 The story of Tony Stock is astonishing deeply disturbing it sent out ripples of disquiet when he was sentenced to ten years for robbery at Leeds Assizes in 1970 Over the next 40 years the case went to the Court of Appeal four times and has the distinction of being the first to have been referred to that court twice by the Criminal Cases Review Commission Tony Stock died in 2012 still fighting to clear his name spending from his meagre savings to hire private investigators and hoping beyond hope to see justice Reviews The story of Tony Stock should be mandatory reading for everyone not merely those involved with the laws It concerns the quality of our criminal justice system and its serious reluctance and unwillingness to root out injustice Michael Mansfield QC One of the most outrageous miscarriages of justice of modern times Barry Sheerman Labour MP for Huddersfield In the Press If anyone seriously believes the Court of Appeal has reformed itself since the dark days of the Birmingham Six and Bridgewater Four they should study the unreported and amazing case of Tony Stock Private Eye I would have thought that the injustice done to Tony Stock was fairly self evident and yet his conviction still stands I find this very difficult to accept Ralph Barrington investigations adviser at the
