parents are recalled with painful immediacy in this meticulously researched tribute to those who died or were lucky enough to survive DAILY MAIL The empty chairs belonged all too briefly to the doomed young First World War airmen who failed to return from the terrifying daily aerial combats above the trenches of the Western Front The edict of their commander in chief was the missing aviators were to be immediately replaced Before the new faces could arrive the departed men's vacant seats at the squadron dinner table were sometimes poignantly occupied by their caps and boots placed there in a sad ritual by their surviving colleagues as they drank to their memory Life for most of the pilots of the Royal Flying Corps was appallingly short If they graduated alive and unmaimed from the flying training that killed more than half of them before they reached the front line only a few would for very long survive the daily battles they fought over the ravaged moonscape of no man's land Their average life expectancy at the height of the war was measured only in weeks Parachutes that began to save their German enemies were denied them Fear of incarceration and the daily spectacle of watching close colleagues die in burning aircraft took a devastating toll on the nerves of the world's first fighter pilots Many became mentally ill As they waited for death or with luck the survivable wound that would send them back to Blighty they poured their emotions into their diaries and streams of letters to their loved ones at home Drawing on these remarkable testimonies and pilots' memoirs Ian Mackersey has brilliantly reconstructed the First Great Air War through the lives of its participants As they waited to die the men shared their loneliness their fears triumphs and squadron gossip with the families who lived in daily dread of the knock on the door that would bring the War Office telegram in its fateful green envelope In a Sunburned Country Bill Bryson, 2012-05-15 Deliciously funny fact filled and adventurous In a Sunburned Country takes us on a grand tour of Australia It's a place where interesting things happen all the time from a Prime Minister lost yes lost while swimming at sea to Japanese cult members who may entirely unnoticed have set off an atomic bomb on their 500 000 acre property in the great western desert Australia is the only island that is also a continent and the only continent that is also a country Its aboriginal people a remote and mysterious race with a tragic history have made it their home for millennia And despite the fact that it is the most desiccated infertile and climatically aggressive of all inhabited continents it teems with life In fact Australia has more things that can kill you in extremely nasty ways than anywhere else sharks crocodiles the planet's ten most deadly poisonous snakes fluffy yet toxic caterpillars sea shells that actually attack you and the unbelievable box jellyfish don't ask The dangerous riptides of the sea and the sun baked wastes of the outback both lie in wait for the unwary Australia is an immense and fortunate land and it has found in Bill Bryson its perfect guide In a Sunburned Country offers the best of all possible introductions to what may well be the best of all possible nations Even with those jellyfish Women in British Imperial Airspace Liz Millward, 2007-12-18 The romance of flying the airways that developed above the British empire between the two world wars seduced young women with the promise of independence glamour and adventure Aviation in Northern California 1910-1939 Allen Herr, 2020-07-01 Aviation in Northern California 1910-1939 Vol 1 San Francisco Bay

Area is the only book to give a detailed account of early flying in the Bay Area Historian Allen Herr recalls the aviation pioneers who flew weekly exhibitions promoting the Panama Pacific International Exposition fifteen months prior to its San Francisco opening These pioneers formed flying schools built airports manufactured aircraft and competed against each other Herr captures the energy behind the Bay Area aviation movement tells who was involved and describes the effects of their extraordinary determination and achievements This edition is one of three in Herr s series of Aviation in Northern California 1910 1939
