Hawker, 2007-10-01 The years between 1922 and 1961 often referred to as the Dark Ages of Northwest Coast art have largely been ignored by art historians and dismissed as a period of artistic decline Tales of Ghosts compellingly reclaims this era arguing that it was instead a critical period during which the art played an important role in public discourses on the status of First Nations people in Canadian society Hawker's insightful examination focuses on the complex functions that Northwest Coast objects such as the ubiquitous totem pole played during the period He demonstrates how these objects asserted the integrity and meaningfulness of First Nations identities while simultaneously resisting the intent and effects of assimilation enforced by the Canadian government's denial of land claims its ban of the potlatch and its support of assimilationist education Those with an interest in First Nations and Canadian history and art history anthropology museology and post colonial studies will
