Brekhus, 2015-10-02 How does culture shape our thinking In what ways do our social and cultural worlds enter into our mental worlds How do the communities we belong to influence what we notice and what we ignore What cultural variation do we see in cognition What general patterns do we see across this diversity and variation In this lively and engaging book Wayne H Brekhus shows us the many ways that culture influences our cognitive thought processes Drawing on a wide range of fascinating examples such as how members of different subcultures perceive danger and safety how cultures variably classify and perceptually weight race how social actors use and present identity as a strategic resource and how people

Kwan,2020-10-14 Social Construction of National Reality Taiwan Tibet and Hong Kong applies Peter Berger s theory of social construction of reality to explain the origins of national identity and the process of nation building Professor Fu Lai Tony Yu and Diana S Kwan examine how everyday life experiences as a result of socialization germinate ingroup and outgroup which differentiate nationals and foreigners Using this theory to advance an understanding of conflicts between national groups Yu and Kwan analyze how national consciousnesses have precipitated the Taiwan Strait Crisis upheavals in Tibet and Hong Kong s Umbrella Movement Social Construction of Reality as Communicative Action Antonio Sandu,2016-05-11 The central focus of this volume is social constructionism in all its dimensions including its sociological ontological epistemological methodological ethical and pragmatic features It pays particularly close attention to the social construction of reality as a communicative action extending this area to include social pragmatics It also interprets social action as a discursive seductive strategy of exercising power in the public space utilising a constructionist understanding in which public space is represented by any part of the co construction of reality through social or communicative action In addition at the methodological level the book proposes a new semiotic strategy called fractal constructionism which analyses the interpretative drift of certain key concepts that are valued as social constructs Media, Process, and the Social Construction of Crime Gregg Barak,2013-10-28 First published in 1995 One of the most pervasive forms of social control in our society is the mass media The public learns from television newspapers magazines movies and books what is happening in the world and how to interpret it The problem however is that full or complete interpretations of reality are not presented In short reality itself clear and unadorned is not to be found in the information provided by the media Instead media presentations consist of those various viewpoints that succeed in capturing the minds and imaginations of the masses or in terms of the 1992 presidential campaign that successfully put the winning spin on information Barak and others believe that criminologists should participate in the various media presentations of crime and justice By bringing their knowledge to bear on media presentations criminologists can help make some news more representative and less distorted of the social reality of crime The Reality of Social Construction Dave Elder-Vass,2012-04-23 Argues that versions of realist and social constructionist ways of thinking about the social world are compatible with each other The Social Construction of Mental Illness and Its Implications for Neuroplasticity Michael T. Walker,2016-09-14 The Social Construction of Mental Illness and Its Implications for Neuroplasticity examines how the current concept of mental illness in society informs the dialogic skills and perspectives of psychotherapists The common interpretation of unconventional behavior as a symptom of illness has marginalized the creative class and deterred mental health professionals from developing the skills and perspectives needed to empower their clients Too often the neuroplasticity of the human brain is ignored in favor of the organizing metaphor of chemical imbalance which often results in the relegation of clients needs to the pharmaceutical industry Michael T Walker encourages psychotherapists to evolve their practice by considering the new information available in neuroscience psychotherapy outcome studies and postmodern psychotherapies The Communicative Construction of Reality Hubert Knoblauch,2019-12-06 This volume advocates a shift from the social constructivism found in the work of Thomas Luckmann and Peter Berger to a communicative constructivism that acknowledges communication as an embodied form of action in its own right according to which social actors in engaging in communicative action construct a material social reality that guides delimits and enables actions A study of the importance of understanding the role of communication in an age in which digitization and mediatization have extended the reach of communication to a global level and brought about the emergence of the communication society The Communicative Construction of Reality shows how communication society does not merely replace modern society and its hierarchical institutions but complements it in a manner that continually results in conflicts leading to the refiguration of society As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology with interests in the sociology of knowledge communication and social theory The Linguistic Construction of Reality George William Grace,1987 Education and Sociology David Levinson,Peter W. Cookson,Alan R. Sadovnik,2002 First Published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Mediated Construction of Reality Nick Couldry, Andreas Hepp, 2018-03-15 Social theory needs to be completely rethought in a world of digital media and social media platforms driven by data processes Fifty years after Berger and Luckmann published their classic text The Social Construction of Reality two leading sociologists of media Nick Couldry and Andreas Hepp revisit the question of how social theory can understand the processes through which an everyday world is constructed in and through media Drawing on Sch tz Elias and many other social and media theorists they ask what are the implications of digital medias profound involvement in those processes Is the result a social world that is stable and liveable or one that is increasingly unstable and unliveable
