Song To The Flying Fox:

The Song to the Flying Fox Jürg Wassmann, 1991 Authenticity and Authorship in Pacific Island Encounters Jeannette Mageo, Bruce Knauft, 2021-04-01 The insular Pacific is a region saturated with great cultural diversity and poignant memories of colonial and Christian intrusion Considering authenticity and authorship in the area this book looks at how these ideas have manifested themselves in Pacific peoples and cultures Through six rich complementary case studies a theoretical introduction and a critical afterword this volume explores authenticity and authorship as traveling concepts The book reveals diverse and surprising outcomes which shed light on how Pacific identity has changed from the past to the present They Make Themselves Jane Fajans, 1997-08-04 For generations of anthropologists the Baining people have presented a challenge because of their apparent lack of cultural or social structure This group of small scale horticulturists seems devoid of the complex belief systems and social practices that characterize other traditional peoples of Papua New Guinea Their daily existence is mundane and repetitive in the extreme articulated by only the most elementary familial relationships and social connections The routine of everyday life however is occasionally punctuated by stunningly beautiful festivals of masked dancers which the Baining call play and to which they attribute no symbolic significance In a new work sure to evoke considerable repercussions and debate in anthropological theory Jane Fajans courageously takes on the Baining Problem arguing that the Baining define themselves not through intricate cosmologies or social networks but through the meanings generated by their own productive and reproductive work Pacific Island Flying Foxes Don E. Wilson, Gary Lynn Graham, 1992 Songs of the Empty Place James F. Weiner, Don Niles, 2015-07-13 For 31 months between 1979 and 1995 James F Weiner conducted anthropological research amongst the Foi people in Southern Highlands Province Papua New Guinea This book contains the transcriptions translations and descriptions of the songs he recorded The texts of women s sago songs obedobora men s ceremonial songs sorohabora and women s sorohabora are included Men turn the prosaic content of women s sago songs into their own sorohabora songs which are performed the night following large scale inter community pig kills called dawa While women sing sago songs by themselves men sing their ceremonial songs in groups of paired men Women also have their own ceremonial versions of such songs The songs are memorial in intent they are designed to commemorate the lives of men who are no longer living Most commonly they do so by naming the places the deceased inhabited during his lifetime These song texts and translations are introduced by Weiner Ethnomusicologist Don Niles then brings together information about each type of song and considers these Foi genres in relation to those of neighbouring groups highlighting aspects of regional performance styles Consideration is also given to the poetic devices used in Papua New Guinea songs Eighteen recordings illustrating the Foi genres discussed in this book are available for download It remains uncertain how such songs may be affected by the major oil extraction project that has been undertaken in the region for more than two decades This book will interest students of anthropology ethnomusicology linguistics verbal
