Music, Modernity, and God Jeremy

Begbie,2013-11-22 When the story of modernity is told from a theological perspective music is routinely ignored despite its pervasiveness in modern culture and the manifold ways it has been intertwined with modernity's ambivalent relation to the Christian God In conversation with musicologists and music theorists this collection of essays shows that the practices of music and the discourses it has generated bear their own kind of witness to some of the pivotal theological currents and counter currents shaping modernity Music has been deeply affected by these currents and in some cases may have played a part in generating them In addition Jeremy Begbie argues that music is capable of yielding highly effective ways of addressing and moving beyond some of the more intractable theological problems and dilemmas which modernity has bequeathed to us Music Modernity and God includes studies of Calvin Luther and Bach an exposition of the intriguing tussle between Rousseau and the composer Rameau and an account of the heady exaltation of music to be found in the early German Romantics Particular attention is paid to the complex relations between music and language and the ways in which theology a discipline involving language at its heart can come to terms with practices like music practices which are coherent and meaningful but which in many respects do not operate in language like ways

Congregational Music-Making and Community in a Mediated Age Anna E. Nekola,Tom Wagner,2016-05-23 Congregational music can be an act of praise a vehicle for theology an action of embodied community as well as a means to a divine encounter This multidisciplinary anthology approaches congregational music as media in the widest sense as a multivalent communication action with technological commercial political ideological and theological implications where processes of mediated communication produce shared worlds and beliefs Bringing together a range of voices promoting dialogue across a range of disciplines each author approaches the topic of congregational music from his or her own perspective facilitating cross disciplinary connections while also showcasing a diversity of outlooks on the roles that music and media play in Christian experience The authors break important new ground in understanding the ways that music media and religious belief and praxis become lived theology in our media age revealing the rich and diverse ways that people are living experiencing and negotiating faith and community through music

The Works of that Eminent Servant of Christ John Bunyan, 1850 Evangelical Magazine and Gospel Advocate ,1840 Presbyterian Sabbath School Visitor ,1868 Facing the Music Robert Dusek, 2008-06 Facing the Music is a book about worship leading But it is also a book about much more than just the act of leading or the theory of leadership It dives deep into the calling spirit and motivation of the worship leader It invites us to move beyond singing the song and towards becoming the song It speaks of worship not as something we do but rather something we are It celebrates a lifestyle of worship and leads us to a level of transparency and intimacy before Jesus Christ Facing the Music may challenge your preconceptions about worship leading it may make you uncomfortable about some things But in the end the call as A W Tozer once said to Take worship out of the hands of man and place it in the hands of God where it belongs rings loud and clear throughout its passages Dr Robert Dusek is the Worship and Arts Pastor at Centerpoint Community Church in Arvada Colorado Prior to being called to the ministry Dr Dusek toured as a concert pianist and had several of his compositions and performances published and recorded His passion now is for a rebirth of authenticity and transparency in the worship of God and to that end he has worked with and coached several Denver area praise teams and has been a proponent of multi church praise and worship gatherings Robert lives at home with his wife whom he loves and his dog whom he tolerates
