The High-Kilted Muse Murray Shoolbraid, 2010-04-02 In 1832 the Scottish ballad collector Peter Buchan of Peterhead Aberdeenshire presented an anthology of risqu and convivial songs and ballads to a Highland laird When Professor Francis James Child of Harvard was preparing his magisterial edition of The English and Scottish Popular Ballads he made inquiries about it but it was not made available in time to be considered for his work On his death it was presented to the Child Memorial Library at Harvard Because of its unseemly materials the manuscript languished there since unprinted though referred to now and again and a few items from time to time made an appearance The manuscript has now been transcribed with full annotation and with an introduction on the compiler his times and the Scottish bawdy tradition It contains the texts without tunes of seventy six bawdy songs and ballads along with a long lost scatological poem attributed to the Edinburgh writer James Balloon Tytler Appendices give details of Buchan s two published collections of ballads Additionally there is a list of tale types and motifs a glossary of Scots and archaic words a bibliography and an index The High Kilted Muse brings to light a long suppressed volume and fills in a great gap in published bawdy songs and ballads

Scotland and the Fictions of Geography Penny Fielding, 2008-12-11 Focusing on the relationship between England and Scotland and the interaction between history and geography Penny Fielding explores how Scottish literature in the Romantic period was shaped by the understanding of place and space This book examines geography as a form of regional national and global definition addressing national surveys local stories place names and travel writing and argues that the case of Scotland complicates the identification of Romanticism with the local Fielding considers Scotland as North Britain in a period when the North of Europe was becoming a strong cultural and political identity and explores ways in which Scotland was both formative and disruptive of British national consciousness Containing studies of Robert Burns Walter Scott and James Hogg as well as the lesser known figures of Anne Grant and Margaret Chalmers this study discusses an exceptionally broad range of historical geographical scientific linguistic antiquarian and political writing from throughout North Britain
