The Jailing Of Cecelia Capture:

The Jailing of Cecelia Capture Janet Campbell Hale, 1987-07 A novel of urban Indian life Jailing of Cecelia Capture Janet Campbell Hale, 1987-01 When thirty year old Cecelia Capture Wells a Native American law student at Berkeley is jailed on a drunk driving charge she reflects on the course of her life Haunting Violations Wendy Hesford, Wendy Kozol, 2000-11-30 Feminist critics place a premium on the real stories told by the victimized and the oppressed Haunting Violations offers a corrective to such uncritical acceptance of the real in confessional testimonial and ethnographic narratives Through close readings of a wide variety of texts contributors argue that depictions of the real are inherently performative crafted within the limits and in the interests of specific personal political or social projects Haunting Violations explores the inseparability of discourse and politics in quasi autobiographical works such as I Rigoberta Mench and When Heaven and Earth Changed Places Contributors consider how the Sri Lankan Mother's Front movement exploits the sanctity of the maternal and how multiple political purposes on both sides bleed through government documentary photographs of Japanese American concentration camp internees This volume also investigates how South Asian feminists use the authority of their personal experience to critique the film Mississippi Masala and how realist narratives such as Janet Campbell Hale's autobiographical Bloodlines Margie Strosser's documentary film Rape Stories and Shekur Kapur's film Bandit Queen reexamine how assumptions about power and trauma are embedded in the promise of the real Encyclopedia of American Indian Literature Jennifer McClinton-Temple, Alan Velie, 2015-04-22 Presents an encyclopedia of American Indian literature in an alphabetical format listing authors and their works American Indian Literature Kimberly Wieser-Weryackwe, 2025-07-10 Discover the essential people works movements and themes in American Indian literature American Indian literature is a varied and vibrant collection of Indigenous artistic expression American Indian novelists poets essayists and critics have over the last four centuries asserted powerful forms of intellectual and artistic sovereignty writing in English while building on discrete tribal oral traditions and forms of storytelling This encyclopedia introduces readers to the key historical and contemporary figures in American Indian literature and their defining works From the fiery sermons of Methodist minister William Apress to the Pulitzer Prize winning novel House Made of Dawn by N Scott Momaday to the critically acclaimed and commercially successful novels of Louise Erdrich this book illustrates the indelible and influential imprint American Indians have on the landscape of American letters Readers are also introduced to the key themes and context of American Indian literature exploring how it is inextricable from American literary history the American literary canon and the narrative of American history not on the fringes of the American experience but central to it The Oxford Handbook of Indigenous American Literature James H. Cox, Daniel Heath Justice, 2014-07-31 Over the course of the last twenty years Native American and Indigenous American literary studies has experienced a dramatic shift from a critical focus on identity and authenticity to the intellectual cultural political historical and tribal nation contexts from which these Red Land, Red Power Sean Kicummah Teuton, 2008-06-03 A new interpretation of the literature of the Red Power movement that reconceives the role of identity in the political empowerment of Native Americans Native American Literature Helen May Dennis, 2006-11-22 Native American Literature underwent a Renaissance around 1968 and the current canon of novels written in the late twentieth century in American English by Native American or mixed blood authors is diverse exciting and flourishing Despite this very few such novels are accepted as part of the broader American literary canon This book offers a valuable and original approach to contemporary Native American literature Dennis s contemplation of space and spatialized aesthetics is compelling and persuasive Considering Native American literature within a modernist framework and comparing it with writers such as Woolf Stein T S Eliot and Proust results in a valuable and enriching context for the selected texts Vital reading for scholars of Native American Literature this book will also provide good grounding in the subject for those with an interest in American and twentieth century literature more generally American Indian Culture and Research Journal, 2001 Plural Sovereignties and Contemporary Indigenous Literature S.

Christie, 2009-04-26 Offering close readings of novels by Sherman Alexie to Leslie Marmon Silko this book documents the reinvention of Anglo European nationality in the interests of sustaining the indigenous traditions that long preceded colonization Transatlantic Voices Elvira Pulitano, 2007-01-01 A collection of critical essays by European scholars on contemporary Native North American literatures Devoted to the primary genres of Native literature fiction nonfiction drama poetry these essays chart the course of theories of Native literature and delineate the crosscurrents in the history of Native literature studies Narrating the American West , Engaging Film Tim Cresswell, Deborah Dixon, 2002 Engaging Film is a creative interdisciplinary volume that explores the engagements among film space and identity and features a section on the use of films in the classroom as a critical pedagogical tool Focusing on anti essentialist themes in films and film production this book examines how social and spatial identities are produced or dissolved in films and how mobility is used to create different experiences of time and space From popular movies such as Pulp Fiction Bulworth Terminator 2 and The Crying Game to home movies and avant garde films the analyses and teaching methods in this collection will engage students and researchers in film and media studies cultural geography social theory and cultural studies Women of Color and the Multicultural Curriculum Liza Fiol-Matta, Mariam Chamberlain, 1994 A A A The product of 13 curriculum projects that involved several hundred educators nationwide this volume provides faculty and administrators with a guide to multicultural curricular change especially with respect to women While women represent over half of the college students on campus they are still represented only minimally in the allegedly mainstream curriculum Women of color are far less visible in the curriculum than white women A A A Both the process and the results of a Ford Foundation funded project are presented here in a format that allows browsing and promotes reading straight through The volume is divided into three major sections the first of which highlights the actual process of faculty transformation and administrative support essential to curricular changes as it occurred on two of the participating campuses U C L A and George Washington University Extensive multidisciplinary faculty development syllabi are provided A A A Section Two contains 37 transformed undergraduate course syllabi for courses in sociology American history and literature and more with brief essays describing professors encounters with teaching the new texts Section Three is an invaluable interdisciplinary guide to teaching about Puerto Rican women prepared by a team of scholars at SUNY Albany It provided information about Puerto Rican women inside and outside Puerto Rico as well as teaching strategies for integrating such information into the traditional curriculum A A A This volume shows that essential educational change to meet the diversity of U S students may be somewhat slower than one would wish and more difficult but it is complex challenging and intellectually exciting Encyclopedia of Women in the American West Gordon Morris Bakken, Brenda Farrington, 2003-06-26 American women have followed their manifest destiny since the 1800 s moving West to homestead found businesses author novels and write poetry practice medicine and law preach and perform missionary work become educators artists judges civil rights activists and many other important roles spurred on by their strength spirit and determination Voices of the Rainbow Kenneth Rosen,2012-01-01 Kenneth Rosen s haunting volume of poetry proves that the powerful and moving voice of Native Americans must be heard More than two hundred poems embrace anguish pride and hope representing twenty four tribal affiliations including Sioux Pawnee Choctaw Seminole Laguna Pueblo Cherokee Anishinabe Mohawk Seneca and Seminole An Indian leader once asked a U S president What visions under the white man s way are offered that will cause today s children to want tomorrow to come In a sense each poem in this volume is an attempt to confront and answer that very question Indigenous Cities Laura M. Furlan,2017 In Indigenous Cities Laura M Furlan demonstrates that stories of the urban experience are essential to an understanding of modern Indigeneity She situates Native identity among theories of diaspora cosmopolitanism and transnationalism by examining urban narratives such as those written by Sherman Alexie Janet Campbell Hale Louise Erdrich and Susan Power along with the work of filmmakers and artists In these stories Native peoples navigate new surroundings find and reformulate community and maintain and redefine Indian identity in the postrelocation era These narratives illuminate the changing relationship between urban Indigenous peoples and theirtribal nations and territories and the ways in which new cosmopolitan bonds both reshape and are interpreted by tribal identities Though the majority of American Indigenous populations do not reside on reservations these spaces regularly define discussions and literature about Native citizenship and identity Meanwhile conversations about the shift to urban settings often focus on elements of dispossession subjectivity and assimilation Furlan takes a critical look at Indigenous fiction from the last three decades to present a new way of looking at urban experiences that explains mobility and relocation as a form of resistance In these stories Indian bodies are not bound by state imposed borders or confined to Indian Country as it is traditionally conceived Furlan demonstrates that cities have always been Indian land and Indigenous peoples have always been cosmopolitan and urban The Native American Almanac: A Portrait of Native America Today Arlene B. Hirschfelder,Martha Kreipe de Montaña,2008-04-21 an excellent overview of past and present Native American life Library Journal Best research tool Lingua Franca Wide ranging authoritative and timely here is an illuminating portrait of America s Native peoples combining information about their history and traditions with insight into the topics that most affect their lives today From the upheaval of first contacts to the policies of removal to contemporary issues of self determination this useful sourcebook provides information on all aspects of Native American life The Native American Almanac outlines topics of particular interest such as the history of Native white relations the location and status of Native American tribes religious traditions and ceremonies language and literature and contemporary performers and artists and includes dozens of useful reference features such as Maps of tribal areas historical conflicts and present day reservations A detailed chronology of significant events Names and addresses of hundreds of organizations concerned with Native American affairs A listing of Native American landmarks museums and cultural centers from coast to coast More than 100 black and white photographs and drawings Visit us online at <http://www.mgr.com>

Other Destinies Louis Owens, 1994 This first book length critical analysis of the full range of novels written between 1854 and today by American Indian authors takes as its theme the search for self discovery and cultural recovery In his introduction Louis Owens places the novels in context by considering their relationships to traditional American Indian oral literature as well as their differences from mainstream Euroamerican literature In the following chapters he looks at the novels of John Rollin Ridge Mourning Dove John Joseph Mathews D Arcy McNickle N Scott Momaday James Welch Leslie Marmon Silko Louise Erdrich Michael Dorris and Gerald Vizenor These authors are mixedbloods who in their writing try to come to terms with the marginalization both of mixed bloods and fullbloods and of their cultures in American society Their novels are complex and sophisticated narratives of cultural survival and survival guides for fullbloods and mixedbloods in modern America Rejecting the stereotypes and cliches long attached to the word Indian they appropriate and adapt the colonizers language English to describe the Indian experience These novels embody the American Indian point of view the non Indian is required to assume the role of other In his analysis Owens draws on a broad range of literary theory myth and folklore structuralism modernism poststructuralism and particularly postmodernism At the same time he argues that although recent American Indian fiction incorporates a number of significant elements often identified with postmodern writing it contradicts the primary impulse of postmodernism That is instead of celebrating fragmentation ephemerality and chaos these authors insist upon a cultural center that is intact and recoverable upon immutable values and ecological truths Other Destinies provides a new critical approach to novels by American Indians It also offers a comprehensive introduction to the novels helping teachers bring this important fiction to the classroom
