

we can think all the while that we can play the Superman game and "Make Faith", another of those what are we here for games to enjoy life eternal, solve our problems we can, give light peace and joy to our fellow man, and leave this beautiful planet a little healthier than when we were here. Who knows what other planets will be waiting and what other wonders there will unfold?
We certainly live more than man can do — that is the question.
In any case, thank God we are here and of the gods — not all

Musical Magazine and Musical Courier, 1898 Speculative Light Amy J. Elias, 2024-12-13 Over the course of a thirty eight year friendship painter Beauford Delaney and writer James Baldwin shared their private lives and shaped one another's artistic values Speculative Light brings together scholars critics and artists who analyze the stylistic and historical import of Delaney's and Baldwin's works and examine how this friendship fundamentally shaped the pair's ideas about art and life The book's contributors explore how the two men sharing identities as queer Black American artists first in New York and then as expatriates in France created a speculative space in their work to think about more just and creative Black futures. Essay topics and issues range from masculinity, queerness, Blackness, and Americanness to the relationship between jazz, painting, and writing. Throughout, the contributors establish a positive history for Delaney's and Baldwin's arts that refuses a subordinate role to white artists of the modernist avant-garde. Ultimately, Speculative Light demonstrates that Delaney and Baldwin's bond provides revolutionary grounds for theorizing contemporary Black art and life.
