Office of Education, 1991 Beyond the Java Sea Paul Michael Taylor, 1991 Forgotten Islands of Indonesia Nico De Jonge, Joss van Dijk, 2012-10-09 This beautiful book contains fascinating text and over 170 unique photographs of one of the most interesting but least well known cultures in the Indonesian Archipelago The traditional art of Maluku Tenggara the Southeast Moluccas is among the most sophisticated and expressive in the world Simple tools were used to create masterpieces in wood stone textiles and precious metals while the plaited work and earthenware of these islands are also of the very highest quality the colonial period plunged the region into hopeless isolation During the harsh rule of the Dutch many traditional works of art especially ancestor statues were destroyed Later collectors stripped the islands of their masterpieces and the culture of Maluku Tenggara was forgotten Forgotten Islands of Indonesia presents a unique survey of the finest examples of Southeast Moluccan art This volume contains many photographs and descriptions which have never before been published Set against the cultural background and supplemented by rare photographs taken in the field the material culture of Maluku Tenggara which is regarded as one of the most fascinating areas of Indonesia is presented here comprehensively for the first time Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1989: Institute of Museum Services United States. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Department of the Interior and Related Agencies, 1988 The Ancestress Hypothesis Kathryn Coe, 2003 In our society it has long been believed that art serves very little social purpose Evolutionary anthropologists however are examining a potential role for art in human evolution Kathryn Coe looks to the visual arts of traditional societies for clues Because they are passed down from previous generations traditional art forms such as body decoration funeral ornaments and ancestral paintings offer ways to promote social relationships among kin and codescendants of a common ancestor Mothers used art forms to anchor themselves and their kin to the father and his kin and to promote the survival and reproductive success of kin and descendants Individuals who abided by this strategy accompanied by its strict codes of cooperation left more descendants than did individuals who did not Over time given this reproductive success large numbers of individuals would be identified as codescendants of a common ancestor and would cooperate as if they were close kin These cooperative codescendants were more likely to survive and leave descendants With each new generation these clans propagated not only their genes but also their behavioral strategy the replication or presence of art The book concludes by examining the changing characteristics of visual art including a higher value on creativity competition and cost when traditional constraints on social behavior disappear The Garland Encyclopedia of World Music Ruth M. Stone, 2017-09-25 The Garland Encyclopedia of World Music is a ten volume reference work organized geographically by continent to represent the musics of the world in nine volumes The tenth volume houses reference tools and descriptive information about the encyclopedia's structure criteria for inclusion and other information specific to the field of ethnomusicology An award winning reference its contributions are from top researchers around the world who were active in fieldwork and from key institutions with programs in ethnomusicology GEWM has become a familiar acronym and it remains highly revered for its scholarship uncontested in being the sole encompassing reference work with a broad survey of world music More than 9 000 pages with musical illustrations photographs and drawings it is accompanied by 300 audio examples Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1992 United States. Subcommittee on Department of the Interior and Related Agencies, 1991 Museums, Heritage and International Development Paul Basu, Wayne Modest, 2014-10-03 While many claims are made regarding the power of cultural heritage as a driver and enabler of sustainable development the relationship between museums heritage and development has received little academic scrutiny This book stages a critical conversation between the interdisciplinary fields of museum studies heritage studies and development studies to explore this under researched sphere of development intervention In an agenda setting introduction the editors explore the seemingly oppositional temporalities and values represented by these past making and future making projects arguing that these provide a framework for mutual critique Contributors to the volume bring insights from a wide range of academic and practitioner perspectives on a series of international case studies which each raise challenging questions that reach beyond merely cultural concerns and fully engage with both the legacies of colonial power inequalities and the shifting geopolitical dynamics of contemporary international relations Cultural heritage embodies different values and can be instrumentalized to serve different economic social and political objectives within development contexts but the past is also intrinsic to the present and is foundational to people's aspirations for the future Museums Heritage and International Development explores the problematics as well as potentials the politics as well as possibilities in this fascinating nexus Indonesia, News & Views, 1988-04 Borneo Studies in History, Society and Culture Victor T. King, Zawawi Ibrahim, Noor Hasharina Hassan, 2016-08-12 This edited book is the first major review of what has been achieved in Borneo Studies to date Chapters in this book situate research on Borneo within the general disciplinary fields of the social sciences with the weight of attention devoted to anthropological research and related fields such as development studies gender studies environmental studies social policy studies and cultural studies Some of the chapters in this book are extended versions of presentations at the Borneo Research Council's international conference hosted by Universiti Brunei Darussalam in June 2012 and a Borneo Studies workshop organised in Brunei in 2012 The volume examines some of the major debates and controversies in Borneo Studies including those which have served to connect post war research on Borneo to wider scholarship It also assesses some of the more recent contributions and interests of locally based researchers in universities and other institutions in Borneo itself The major strength of the book is the inclusion of a substantial amount of research undertaken by scholars working and teaching within the Southeast Asian region In particular there is an examination of research materials published in the vernacular notably the outpouring of work published in Indonesian by the Institut Dayakologi in Pontianak In doing so the book also addresses the urgent matters which have not received the attention they deserve specifically subjects themes and issues that have already been covered but require further contemplation elaboration and research and the scope for disciplinary and multidisciplinary collaboration in Borneo Studies The book is a valuable resource and reference work for students and researchers interested in social science scholarship on Borneo and for those with wider interests in Indonesia and Malaysia and in the Southeast Asian region

The Potent Dead Anthony Reid, 2020-08-20 The dead are potent and omnipresent in modern Indonesia Presidents and peasants alike meditate before sacred graves to exploit the power they confer and mediums do good business curing the sick by interpreting the wishes of deceased forebears Among non Muslims there are ritual burials of the bones of the dead in monuments both magnificent and modest By promoting dead heroes to a nationalist pantheon regions and ethnic groups establish their place within the national story Although much has been written about the local forms of the scriptural religions to which modern Indonesians are required by law to adhere Islam Christianity Hinduism and Buddhism this is the first book to assess the indigenous systems of belief in the spirits of ancestors Sometimes these systems are condemned in the name of the formal religions but more often the potent dead coexist as a private dimension of everyday religious practice A unique team of anthropologists historians and literary scholars from Europe Australia and North America demonstrate the continuing importance of the potent dead for understanding contemporary Indonesia At the same time they help us understand historic processes of conversion to Islam and Christianity by examining the continuing interactions of the spirit world with formal religion

Capistrano-Baker, 1994 Masks and Masking Gary Edson, 2015-07-11 For at least 20 000 years masking has been a mark of cultural evolution and an indication of magical religious sophistication in society This book provides a comprehensive understanding of the mask as a powerful cultural phenomenon a means by which human groupings attempted to communicate their dignity and sense of purpose as well as establish a continuum between the natural and supernatural worlds It addresses the distinctive environments within which masks flourished and analyzes the mask as a manifestation of art ethnology and anthropology      Creating Authenticity Alexander Geurds, Laura Van Broekhoven, 2013-11-27

Authenticity and authentication is at the heart of museums concerns in displays objects and interaction with visitors These notions have formed a central element in early thought on culture and collecting Nineteenth century explorers commissioned museum collectors and pioneering ethnographers attempted to lay bare the essences of cultures through collecting and studying objects from distant communities Comparably historical archaeology departed from the idea that cultures were discrete bounded entities subject to divergence but precisely therefore also to be traced back and linked to a more complete original form in the even deeper past Much of what we work with today in ethnographic museum collections testifies to that conviction Post structural thinking brought about a far reaching deconstruction of the authentic It came to be recognized that both far away communities and the deep past can only be discussed when seen as desires constructions and inventions Notwithstanding this undressing of the ways in which people portray their cultural surroundings and past claims of authenticity and quests for authentication remain omnipresent This book explores the authentic in contemporary ethnographic museums as it persists in dialogues with stakeholders and how museums portray themselves How do we interact with questions of authenticity and authentication when we curate study artefacts collect repatriate and make representations The contributing authors illustrate the divergent nature in which the authentic is brought into play deconstructed and operationalized Authenticity the book argues is an expression of a desire that is equally troubled as it is resilient
