A Practical Guide to Museum Ethics Sally Yerkovich, 2016-03-07 Are your collections up for grabs Does the spouse of one of your trustees have too much to say about developing the exhibition schedule How much is too much public participation Where does a curator s authority begin and end With money increasingly difficult to raise is a museum more likely to accede to potential funders demands even when those demands might compromise the museum s integrity When a museum is struggling with debilitating debt should the sale of selected items from its collections and the use of the resulting proceeds bring the museum into a more stable financial position When a museum attempts to build its attendance and attract local visitors by crowdsourcing exhibitions is it undermining its integrity Ethical questions about museum activities are legion yet they are usually only discussed when they become headlines in newspapers Museum staff respond to such problems under pressure often unable to take the time required to think through the sensitive and complex issues involved Grounded in a series of case studies A Practical Guide to Museum Ethics confronts types of ethical dilemmas museums face and explores attempts to resolve them in chapters dealing with accessibility disability and diversity collections conflict of interest governance management deaccessioning and accountability and transparency Suitable for classroom use as well as a professional reference here is a comprehensive practical guide for dealing with ethical issues in museums The Forger Paul Watkins, 2014-12-16 An exciting new novel by the author of The Story of My Disappearance and Archangel At the turn of World War II David Halifax is a young American painter who receives a scholarship to come to Paris and work under the tutelage of the mysterious and brilliant Russian painter Alexander Pankratov Getting more than he bargained for Halifax is quickly subjected to Pankratov's rigid will and beguiled by the quiet nude model who poses before them But Paris is also a city that is holding its breath The Nazi forces are slowly penetrating the Maginot Line and the once indomitable city is now expecting the worst Beneath Paris blanket of fear and eerie calm David Halifax realizes the true purpose of his visit Pankratov is to train him in duplicating the masterworks of the Paris museums and with the aid of a wily art dealer barter the fakes to Hitler's legion of art dealers What develops is a cat and mouse game through Paris silent streets in the tunnels beneath its museums and eventually into the scorched countryside of Normandy In David and Pankratov's frantic race to complete the uncompletable both are forced to confront the terrible sacrifices one must finally make for art a sacrifice of identity and perhaps of the soul In The Forger by Paul Watkins Belonging and Betrayal Charles Dellheim, 2021-09-21 The old masters new masters Was modernism Jewish In the middle To have and have not Formes, 1933 Collections Vol 2 N4 Collections, 2006-05-25 Collections A Journal for Museum and Archives Professionals is a multi disciplinary peer reviewed journal dedicated to the discussion of all aspects of handling preserving researching and organizing collections Curators archivists collections managers preparators registrars educators students and others contribute Creating the Musée d'Orsay: The Politics of Culture in France, This concise book presents the fascinating history of the creation of the Musée d'Orsay and the battles among the prominent politicians curators and historians over the architecture collections and concept of the museum The Art of Status Jelena Subotić, 2025-06-26 An illuminating exploration of the relationship between the restitution of looted art global status and the international construction of national cultural heritage Why is art restitution a matter of politics How does the artwork displayed in national museums reflect the international status of the state that owns it Why do some states agree to return looted art and others resist National art collections have long been a way for states to compete with each other for status prestige and cultural worth in international society In many former imperial nations however these collections include art looted during imperial expansions and colonial occupations While this was once a sign of high international standing the markers of such status particularly in the context of art have since significantly changed A new international legal and normative architecture governing art provenance developed after World War II and became institutionalized in the 1990s and 2000s Since then there have been national and global social movements demanding the return of looted art This shift has established not only that looting is wrong but more importantly that restitution is morally right As a result of this reframing of what it means to own art an artifact's historical provenance has become a core element of its value and the search for provenance and demands for restitution a direct threat to state status The same objects that granted states high international status now threaten to provoke status decline In The Art of Status Jelena Suboti examines this relationship between the restitution of looted art and international status with a focus on the Parthenon Elgin Marbles the Benin Bronzes and a collection of paintings looted during the Holocaust that are now housed at the Serbian National Museum Suboti tells the story of these artworks how they were looted how they ended up on display in national museums and how the art restitution disputes have unfolded While these cases are different in terms of their historical context of looting and ownership claims the movements for their restitution and resistance to it illustrate the larger questions of how national cultural heritage is internationally constructed and how it serves states desire for international status and prestige An in depth and nuanced account of art restitution disputes The Art of Status illuminates the shifting political significance of art on the international stage from ownership to restitution
