Sonic Flux Christoph Cox, 2018-10-22 From Edison's invention of the phonograph through contemporary field recording and sound installation artists have become attracted to those domains against which music has always defined itself noise silence and environmental sound Christoph Cox argues that these developments in the sonic arts are not only aesthetically but also philosophically significant revealing sound to be a continuous material flow to which human expressions contribute but which precedes and exceeds those expressions Cox shows how over the course of the twentieth and twenty first centuries philosophers and sonic artists have explored this sonic flux Through the philosophical analysis of works by John Cage Maryanne Amacher Max Neuhaus Christian Marclay and many others Sonic Flux contributes to the development of a materialist metaphysics and poses a challenge to the prevailing positions in cultural theory proposing a realist and materialist aesthetics able to account not only for sonic art but for artistic production in general Cold War Legacies

John Beck,2016-08-16 From futures research pattern recognition algorithms nuclear waste disposal and surveillance technologies to smart weapons systems contemporary fiction and art this book shows that we are now living in a world imagined and engineered during the Cold War Drawing on theorists such as Jean Baudrillard Jacques Derrida Michel Foucault Luce Irigaray Friedrich Kittler Michel Serres Peter Sloterdijk Carl Schmitt Bernard Stiegler and Paul Virilio this collection makes connections between Cold War material and conceptual technologies as they relate to the arts society and culture Mobile Object Systems Towards the Programmable Internet Jan Vitek,1997-04-02 If the Internet is seen as a single vast programmable machine what is the proper programming paradigm to facilitate development of the new applications it must offer This state of the art survey deals with this question The situation we face is similar to that in the 1960s when a new hardware software architecture was introduced and it took some time for the programming language and operating system specialists to come up with the proper programming paradigms Now we have the new and exciting paradigm of mobile computing where computations are not bound to single locations but may move around at will to best use the available computer network resources This paradigm will have a profound impact on the way distributed applications in particular Internet applications are designed and implemented The Structured Interview Normand Pettersen,André
