Giroux, 1984-10

Ideology, Culture & the Process of Schooling This book lays bare the ideological and political character of the positivist rationality that has been the primary theoretical underpinning of educational research in the United States These assumptions have expressed themselves in the form and content of curriculum classroom social relations classroom cultural artifacts and the experiences and beliefs of teachers and students Have existing radical critiques provided the theoretical building blocks for a new theory of pedagogy The author attempts to move beyond the abstract negative characteristics of many radical critiques which are often based on false dualisms that fail to link structure and intentionality content and process ideology and hegemony etc He also is critical of the over determined models of socialization and the abstract celebration of subjectivity that underlies much of the false utopianism of many radical perspectives Professor Giroux begins to lay the theoretical groundwork for developing a radical pedagogy that connects critical theory with the need for social action in the interest of individual freedom and social reconstruction Author note Henry A Giroux is Assistant Professor of Education at Boston University He is the co editor of Curriculum and Instruction Alternatives in Education and The Hidden Curriculum and Moral Education
