Restorying Environmental Education Chessa Adsit-Morris, 2017-02-09 This book examines a performative environmental educational inquiry through a place based eco art project collaboratively undertaken with a class of grade 4-6 students around the lost streams of Vancouver. The resulting work explores the contradictions gathered in relation to the Western educational system and the encounter with Other real and imaginary others including the shifting and growing self and an attempt to find and foster nourishing alliances for transforming environmental education. Drawing on the work of new materialist theorists Donna Haraway, Rosi Braidotti and Karen Barad, Adsit-Morris considers the co-constitutive materiality of human corporeality and nonhuman natures and provides useful tools for finding creative theoretical alternatives to the reductionist, representationalist and dualistic practices of the Western metaphysics.

Representing Landscapes: Visualizing Climate Action Nadia Amoroso, 2024-07-31 This book provides an in-depth overview of graphic and visual communication styles for conveying climate change and climate action within the landscape architectural profession and in academia. The book features visualizations of climate adaptation and resilience developed by award-winning landscape architects and academics from Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom, The Netherlands, Denmark, Germany, Italy, France, Finland, South Africa, Singapore, and China. Representing Landscapes: Visualizing Climate Action illustrates the imaginative ways in which climate action and climate resilient concepts are visually presented, communicated, and perceived. The book will be especially valuable for students and practitioners in landscape architecture, urban planning, and related fields to understand how to visually capture climate change issues and design solutions and to deliver this message to the public.

Trauma, Art and Memory in the Postcolony David Corbet, 2024-12-18 This wide-ranging book provides a scholarly account of recent and contemporary memorial and counter-memorial practices occurring in the visual arts across diverse postcolonial topologies and imaginaries. The emphasis is on commemorative creative practices and responses to traumatic events of recent times within and beyond the Museum. This major survey encompasses discourses on perception, affect, and trauma in the visual arts, commissioned civic art, and memorial architecture, activist and socially engaged art projects, creative praxis, and expressions of minority and First Nations cultural resilience. The book offers insights into contemporary exhibitionary practices, decolonial methodologies, and spatial politics with a significant focus on art's ability to reveal and reactivate silenced histories, sites, and non-places. It will be of great interest to students, researchers, and subject experts alike across the fields of visual arts, architecture, and urban planning, cultural and memory studies, and trauma and affect studies, contextualising the work of artists and curators within some of the most urgent socio-political, environmental, and philosophical debates of the twenty-first century.

Practicing Pilgrimage Brett Webb-Mitchell, 2016-11-09 Practicing Pilgrimage: On Being and Becoming God's Pilgrim People explores both the theological, cultural, and spiritual roots of Christian pilgrimage and is a how-to book on doing pilgrimage in our suburban backyards, city streets, rural roads, churches, retreat centers and our everyday life Brett Webb Mitchell takes the ancient practice of Christian pilgrimage and applies it to our contemporary lives

What does the music of Madagascar or Trinidad tell us about the islands themselves and their inhabitants Is there something unique about island musics How does island music differ from its mainland counterparts Drawing on a range of diverse examples from around the globe this book examines the culture of island music and offers insight into local identities Case studies look at how music tradition popular culture and islander life are linked in modern maritime societies The islands covered include Crete Ibiza Zanzibar Trinidad Cuba Madagascar and Papua New Guinea In revealing the current practice behind modern island musics the book considers the role of world music exotica global tourism novels and travel writing in constructing fanciful images of islanders and island life Island Musics throws into question some of our most basic notions and assumptions about island societies There are a number of problems common to all island societies that vary in significance depending on an island's size demographics and its proximity to the mainland Problems include remoteness and insularity peripherality to centralized sites of decision making a limited range of natural resources specialization of economics small markets a narrow skills base poor infrastructure and environmental fragility These issues are discussed in relation to the creation of music in the construction of an islander identity Of particular interest is the way in which islanders discuss their music and how it articulates the idea of the other and diaspora Finally Island Musics considers the musical industry music education and the preservation of musical cultural heritage Book Prices: Used and Rare, 1994

Edward N. Zempel, 1994 A Pound of Paper John Baxter, 2025-09-23

In the rural Australia of the fifties where John Baxter grew up reading books was disregarded with suspicion owning and collecting them with utter incomprehension Despite this by the age of eleven Baxter had collected his first book The Poems of Rupert Brooke He'd read the volume often but now he had to own it This was the beginning of what would become a major collection and a lifelong obsession His book hunting would take him all over the world but his first real find was in London in 1978 when he spotted a rare copy of a Graham Greene children's book while browsing on a stall in Swiss Cottage It was going for 5 pence This would also fortuitously be the day when he first encountered one of the legends of the book selling world Martin Stone At various times pothead international fugitive from justice and professional rock musician he would become John's mentor and friend In this brilliantly readable and funny book John Baxter brings us into contact with such literary greats as Graham Greene Kingsley Amis J G Ballard and Ray Bradbury But he also shows us how he penetrated the secret fraternity of runners or book scouts sleuths who use bluff and guile to hunt down their quarry and joined them in scouring junk shops markets auction rooms and private homes for rarities In the comic tradition of Clive James's Unreliable Memoirs A Pound of Paper describes how a boy body's deep knowing and students Learning in Nature focuses on the lives of 6 drama students who gathered weekly at a community arts center during their childhood and adolescence. Before each play rehearsal the students explored contemplative practices such as meditation, yoga, breathing and visualization. After these warm up sessions the rehearsals were dynamic and highly creative. So what might happen if these students went out into nature and experimented with the same practices? What would happen over a year long period if they stopped the noise of life and just listened deeply, just looked and inhaled phenomenologically? Returning the experience of learning to nature, the book tells the story of this group. It tells of their lives and their growing understanding of consciousness and does so through the complex and rich perspectives of holistic teaching and learning. Praise for Learning in Nature: Learning in Nature is a rich resource for holistic educators at all levels of education. It offers a wealth of insights and ideas, theoretical perspectives and practical activities. This writing sings as it invites us to be alive to our senses, our imaginations, our intellects and intuitions, alive and in the moment in the fullness of our humanity. Mary Beattie, Professor Emerita, OISE, University of Toronto. In this sensitive and moving inquiry, Kelli Nigh begins with a constellation of academic references that bear directly on aspects of ourselves that come into play in our life transformations: images, felt senses, dreams, imagination, meditation, symbolism and mind/body experience. Against this thoroughly woven backdrop, the dramas of six young participants who share in Nigh's inquiry unfold. The inquiry is long over years. There is another crucial aspect of it: The landscapes and weather of Nature itself—bluffs, skies, water, trees, wildlife, flowers—become the scenery through which all the participants' stories gain significance. Nigh, with gentle insight and attention to detail, demonstrates the evolution of what essentially becomes their imaginal learning in nature. Throughout this play of sharing in nature, Nigh includes glimpses of her own evolution of self as she inter-folds her experiences with those of the others. As Nature cycles through the seasons, so cycle the lives of these individuals. Nigh's academic and lyrical passages will inspire educators to widen teaching methods to include what is beyond our everyday thought that significantly influences what we learn. Vivian Darroch, Lozowski, Professor Emerita, University of Toronto.
