ethnic identities Marsh was a writer with an acute sense of spatiality whose fiction can be read productively through the lens of spatial theory

Making of the Victorian Novelist Bradley Deane, 2013-10-15 This book examines a sequence of crises in nineteenth century print culture and offers an original narrative of what it meant to be a Victorian novelist Easily dismissed at the beginning of the century as hacks who pandered to the ignorant or indolent novelists by the end of Victoria's reign could be esteemed among the greatest of artists Between these extremes stretches a century of ideological contention between alternative representations of authorship Deane brings new attention in his account to the trends in publishing and the expanding market surrounding Victorian literature such as the new modes of production arguments over copyright legislation and revisions of the criteria of periodical criticism Combining literary sociology and close readings The Making of the Victorian Novelist offers an innovative history of the material pressures and rhetorical struggles that produced and ultimately shattered the Victorians understanding of their great novelists

The Pleasures and Horrors of Eating Marion Gymnich, 2010-09-15 Browsing through books and TV channels we find people pre occupied with eating cooking and competing with chefs Eating and food in today's media have become a form of entertainment and art A survey of literary history and culture shows to what extent eating used to be closely related to all areas of human life to religion eroticism and even to death In this volume early modern ideas of feasting banqueting and culinary pleasures are juxtaposed with post 18th and 19th century concepts in which the intake of food is increasingly subjected to moral theological and economic reservations In a wide range of essays various images rhetorics and poetics of plenty are not only contrasted with the horrors of gluttony they are also seen in the context of modern phenomena such as the anorexic body or the gourmandizing body to humane It is this vexing binary approach to eating and food which this volume traces within a wide chronological framework and which is at the core not only of literature art and film but also of a flourishing popular culture significance given full and detailed consideration Aphoristic Modernity ,2019-10-01 For the first time in scholarship this essay collection interprets modernity through the literary micro genres of the aphorism the epigram the maxim and the fragment Situating Friedrich Nietzsche and Oscar Wilde as forerunners of modern aphoristic culture the collection analyses the relationship between aphoristic consciousness and literary modernism in the expanded purview of the long twentieth century through the work of a wide range of authors including Samuel Beckett Max Beerbohm Jorge Luis Borges Katherine Mansfield and Stevie Smith From the romantic fragment to the tweet Aphoristic Modernity offers a compelling exploration of the short form s pervasive presence both as a standalone artefact and as part of a larger textual and cultural matrix

Anarchist Seeds beneath the Snow David Goodway,2011-12-12 From William Morris to Oscar Wilde to George Orwell left libertarian thought has long been an important but neglected part of British cultural and political history In Anarchist Seeds beneath the Snow David Goodway seeks to recover and revitalize that indigenous anarchist tradition This book succeeds as simultaneously a cultural history of left libertarian thought in Britain and a demonstration of the applicability of that history to current politics Goodway argues that a recovered anarchist tradition could and should be a touchstone for contemporary political radicals Moving seamlessly from Aldous Huxley and Colin Ward to the war in Iraq this challenging volume will energize leftist movements throughout the world The Cambridge Companion to Elgar Daniel M.
