foundations hired international consultants to redesign downtown and to devise a city plan Using the justice speak of cultural workers these consultants did innovative outreach but they did not enable democratic deliberation The Detroit Future City plan won awards and the new green venues in the gentrified downtown have gotten good press However low income black Detroiters have little ability to shape greening as uneven development unfolds and poverty persists Based on years of fieldwork Montgomery takes us into the city council chambers nonprofit offices gardens churches caf s street parties and public protests where the future of Detroit was imagined debated and dictated She begins by using statistical data and oral histories to trace the impacts of capital flight and then she draws on interviews and observations to show how these impacts influence city planning Hostility between blacks and whites shape the main narrative yet indigenous Asian Arab and Latinx peoples in Detroit add to the conflict Montgomery compares Detroit to other historical black urban regimes HBURs U S cities that elected their first black mayors soon after the 1960s civil rights movement Critiques of ecological urbanism in HBURs typically focus on gentrification In contrast Montgomery identifies the danger as minoritization the imposition of beneficent governance across gentrified and non gentrified neighborhoods that treats the black urban poor as children of nature who lack the mental material capacities to decide their future Scholars and students in the social sciences as well as general readers with social and environmental justice concerns will find great value in this research Soul Food Westina
