The Sound of Mountain Water Wallace Stegner, 1980 The essays memoirs letters and speeches in this volume were written over a period of twenty five years a time in which the West witnessed rapid changes to its cultural and natural heritage and Wallace Stegner emerged as an important conservationist and novelist This collection is divided into two sections the first features eloquent sketches of the West's history and environment directing our imagination to the sublime beauty of such places as San Juan and Glen Canyon the concluding section examines the state of Western literature of the mythical past versus the diminished present and analyzes the difficulties facing any contemporary Western writer. The Sound of Mountain Water is both a hymn to the Western landscape, an affirmation of the hope embodied therein, and a careful investigation of the West's cultural and natural legacy. The Sound of Mountain Water Wallace Stegner, 1969. The Mobilized American West, 1940-2000 John M. Findlay, 2023-07. In the years between 1940 and 2000 the American Far West went from being a relative backwater of the United States to a considerably more developed, modern, and prosperous region, one capable of influencing not just the nation but the world. By the dawn of the twenty-first century, the population of the West had multiplied more than four times since 1940, and western states had transitioned from rural to urban, becoming the most urbanized section of the country. Massive investment, both private and public, in the western economy had produced regional prosperity, and the tourism industry had undergone massive expansion, altering the ways Americans identified with the West. In The Mobilized American West, 1940-2000, John M. Findlay presents a historical overview of the American West in its decades of modern development. During the years of U.S. mobilization for World War II and the Cold War, the West remained a significant, distinct region, even as its development accelerated rapidly, and in many ways it became better integrated into the rest of the country. By examining events and trends that occurred in the West, Findlay argues that a distinctive, region-wide political culture developed in the western states, from a commitment to direct democracy, the role played by the federal government in owning and managing such a large amount of land, and the way different groups of westerners identified with and defined the region. While illustrating western distinctiveness, Findlay also aims to show how, in its sustaining mobilization for war, the region became tethered to the entire nation more than ever before, but on its own terms. Findlay presents an innovative approach to viewing the American West as a region distinctive of the United States, one that occasionally stood ahead of, at odds with, and even in defiance of the nation.

Literature and the Environment

George Hart, Scott Slovic, 2004-07-30. The phrase "literature and environment" only achieved popularity in recent decades, yet writers dating back to the explorers of the 1500s and later, such as 19th-century Romanticists as Thoreau, have long been addressing environmental issues through literary expression. This volume introduces students and educators to the field by tracing the evolution of environmental writing in the United States. Chapters written by distinguished scholars offer new perspectives on important environmental issues, guiding readers through 11 carefully selected literary works. Each chapter provides brief biographical information on the author, discussions of the work's structural, thematic, and stylistic components, and insights into the historical context that relates the work to relevant environmental issues. Each chapter concludes with information on works cited. The analyzed works cover a wide spectrum of literature and span nearly 100 years. Included are early writings such as Mary Austin's 1903 The Land of Little Rain and famous groundbreaking works such as Rachel Carson's Silent Spring 1962 and Gary Snyder's Turtle Island 1974. Also included are frequently assigned works of special interest to students such as The Monkey Wrench Gang 1975, The Earthsea Trilogy 1977, and Ceremony 1977. A list of selected further suggested readings completes the volume Students of literature as well as educators looking for new ways to present social issues will find many ideas and much inspiration in this volume

Wallace Stegner and the Continental Vision Curt Meine, 1997-09 Wallace Stegner 1909-1993 was in the words of historian T H Watkins a walking tower of American letters Winner of the Pulitzer prize and the National Book Award for fiction founder of the Stanford Writing Program recipient of three Guggenheim fellowships and innumerable honorary degrees Stegner was both a brilliant writer and an exceptional teacher Wallace Stegner and the Continental Vision brings together leading literary critics historians legal scholars geographers scientists and others to present a multifaceted exploration of Stegner's work and its impact and a thought provoking examination of his life Contributors consider Stegner as writer as historian and as conservationist discussing his place in the American literary tradition his integral role in shaping how Americans relate to the land and his impact on their own personal lives and careers They present an eclectic mix of viewpoints as they explore aspects of Stegner's work that they find most intriguing inspiring and provocative Jackson J Benson on the personal qualities that so distinctively shaped Stegner's writings Walter Nugent on the historical context of Stegner's definition of the West T H Watkins on Stegner's contributions to the modern conservation movement Terry Tempest Williams on Stegner's continuing importance as an elder in the community of writers he nurtured Other contributors include Dorothy Bradley John Daniel Daniel Flores Melody Graulich James R Hepworth Richard L Knight Curt Meine Thomas R Vale Elliott West and Charles F Wilkinson Wallace Stegner and the Continental Vision is an illuminating look at Stegner's many and varied contributions to American literature and society Longtime admirers of Stegner will appreciate it for the new perspectives it provides while readers less familiar with him will find it a valuable and accessible introduction to his life and work

Landscapes of the New West Krista Comer, 1999 In the early 1970s empowered by the civil rights and women's movements a new group of women writers began speaking to the American public Their topic broadly defined was the postmodern American West By the mid 1980s their combined works made for a bona fide literary groundswell in both critical and commercial terms However as Krista Comer notes despite the attentions of publishers the media and millions of readers literary scholars have rarely addressed this movement or its writers Too many critics Comer argues still enamored of western images that are both masculine and antimodern have been slow to reckon with the emergence of a new far more feminine postmodern multiracial and urban west Here she calls for a redesign of the field of western cultural studies one that engages issues of gender and race and is more self conscious about space itself_ especially that cherished symbol of western authenticity open landscape Surveying works by Joan Didion Wanda Coleman Maxine Hong Kingston Leslie Marmon Silko Barbara Kingsolver Pam Houston Louise Erdrich Sandra Cisneros and Mary Clearman Blew Comer shows how these and other contemporary women writers have mapped new geographical imaginations upon the cultural and social spaces of today's American West

An American Provence Thomas P. Huber, 2011-12-15 I have talked about luscious wines and succulent fruit and exquisite dinners But there may be no more evocative experience of the two valleys than the smell of new mown hay in the fields at dusk If a person were to close their eyes they could not tell if they were in Provence or the North Fork Valley That sweet earthy odor is part of the beauty of these places From An American Provence In this poetic personal narrative Thomas P Huber reflects on two seemingly unrelated places the North Fork Valley in western Colorado and the Coulon River Valley in Provence France and finds a shared landscape and sense of place What began as a simple comparison of two like places in distant locations turned into a more complex interesting and personal task Much is similar the light the valleys the climate the agriculture And much is less so the history the geology the physical makeup of villages Using a geographer's eye and passion for the land and people Huber examines the regions similarities and differences to explore the common emotional impact of each region Part intimate travelogue and part case study of geography in the real world An American Provence illuminates the importance sense of place plays in who we are The Sound of Water, The Sound of Wind Bopjong, 2010 The Sound of Water The Sound of Wind is a compellation of essays from five of Zen Master Bapjongs earlier publications This anthology teaches universal themes in Zen and Buddhist tradition and appeals to a broad audience These simple and expressive essays are filled with deep messages concerning total awareness of the self and the spirit of nature among others
