The aim of the book is to show how to perform validation of training assessment instruments by actually doing so and by addressing the central issues that warrant consideration in the process The book begins with background information that is important to the authors research on the validity of tests used in policed training After providing the background in the first three chapters the following four chapters describe and present the findings of their validation study of police academy testing The last chapter draws conclusions about the validity and reliability of the instruments that were studied and by examining the implications of their research for future efforts to validate tests in justice and safety training contexts. The book also contains appendices that present data to support the conclusions and also include methods and instruments developed during the authors research Training Methodology: Planning and administration National Communicable Disease Center (U.S.),1969 Planning for Effective Technical Training Jerrold E.
