Medical Brochure as a Textual Genre Goretti Faya

Ornia,2016-02-08 This book studies the text genre of medical brochures in the United Kingdom and Spain for two main reasons firstly to determine the features that these texts present in each country and secondly to check if medical brochures published in Spain and translated from Spanish into English include all relevant features typical of original English texts It begins by defining the terms genre class and type and relating them to medical brochures After referring to text type a related term is explained text typology This leads to the discussion of several specialised typologies and the presentation of a new proposal of typology in which the position of the genre of medical brochures is determined In order to perform a contrastive study of medical brochures in English and in Spanish the book defines what constitutes a linguistic corpus comments on different types of corpora and presents its own version of classification in which the corpus used for the study is located Finally the results obtained from the contrastive analysis are presented and analysed the features observed in the original brochures English and Spanish are shown and the results are contrasted with those found in the translated brochures

Text Analysis in Translation Christiane Nord,2006-01-01 Text Analysis in Translation has become a classic in Translation Studies Based on a functional approach to translation and indebted to pragmatic text linguistics it suggests a model for translation oriented source text analysis applicable to all text types and genres independent of the language and culture pairs involved Part 1 of the study presents the theoretical framework on which the model is based and surveys the various concepts of translation theory and text linguistics Part 2 describes the role and scope of source text analysis in the translation process and explains why the model is relevant to translation Part 3 presents a detailed study of the extratextual and intratextual factors and their interaction in the text using numerous examples from all areas of professional translation Part 4 discusses the applications of the model to translator training placing particular emphasis on the selection of material for translation classes grading the difficulty of translation tasks and translation quality assessment The book concludes with the practical analysis of a number of texts and their translations taking into account various text types and several languages German English Spanish French Italian Portuguese and Dutch

Legal Translation and the Dictionary Marta Chromá, 2013-10-10 This study concentrates on three major issues creating a basis for the making of the Czech English Law Dictionary with Explanations namely language including terminology in both the Czech and Anglo American systems of law the process of legal translation and the lexicographic method of producing a bilingual law dictionary Terminology has been considered the most significant feature of language for legal purposes It encompasses a wide range of special purpose vocabulary and higher syntactic units including legal jargon Conceptual analysis is to be pursued whenever an identical term in the target language does not exist or its full equivalent is in doubt Legal translation should be based primarily on comparative legal linguistic and genre analysis in order to make the transfer of legal information as precise accurate and comprehensible as possible The primary objective of legal translation is for the target recipient to be provided as explicit extensive and precise legal information in the target language as is contained in the source text complemented by the translator with facts rendering the original information fully comprehensible in the different legal environment and culture A dictionary which will help its users to produce legal texts in the target language should be founded upon a profound comparative legal and linguistic analysis that will determine equivalents at the levels of vocabulary syntax and genre b select the appropriate lexicographic material to be included in the dictionary and c create entries in a user friendly manner

Translation and Minority Lawrence Venuti, 2016-04-29 The premise of this volume is a question What can the concept of minority bring to the practice and study of translation Minority is understood here to mean a cultural or political position that is subordinate whether the social context that so defines it is local national or global This position is occupied by languages and literatures that lack prestige or authority the non standard and the non canonical what is not spoken or read much by a hegemonic culture Yet minorities also include the nations and social groups that are affiliated with these languages and literatures the politically weak or underrepresented the colonized and the disenfranchised the exploited and the stigmatized Translation today is itself a minor use of language a lesser art an invisible craft that commands less cultural capital and fewer legal privileges than original composition Yet the focus in this collection is not on what translators worldwide have in common but on the distinctive forms that translating takes when it is done by or on behalf of minorities The articles in this volume present a variety of case studies that illuminate the linguistic and cultural problems posed by such translating as well as the economic and political agendas it has served Together these pieces show that the concept of minority is worth exploring because it inspires innovation in translation practice and research Minor cultures are coincident with new translation strategies new translation theories and new syntheses of the diverse methodologies that constitute the discipline of translation studies Media and Translation Dror

Abend-David,2014-07-31 Over the last decade there has been a dramatic increase in publications on media and translation In fact there are those who believe that so much has been published in this field that any further publications are superfluous But if one views media and translation as anything ranging from film and television drama to news casting commercials video games web pages and electronic street signs it would seem that research in media and translation has barely scratched the surface The research in this field is shared largely by scholars in communication and translation studies often without knowledge of each other or access to their respective methods of scholarship This collection will rectify this lack of communication by bringing such scholars together and creating a context for a theoretical discussion of the entire emerging field of Media and Translation with a preference for theoretical work rather than case studies on translation and communications of various forms and through various media Specialised Translation M. Rogers,2015-05-26 This book shifts the common perception of specialised or LSP translation as necessarily banal and straightforward towards a more realistic understanding of it as a complex and multilayered phenomenon which belies its standard negative binary definition as non literary The Routledge Handbook of Translation Studies and Linguistics Kirsten Malmkjaer,2017-12-14 The Routledge Handbook of Translation Studies and Linguistics explores the interrelationships between translation studies and linguistics in six sections of state of the art chapters written by leading specialists from around the world The first part begins by addressing the relationships between translation studies and linguistics as major topics of study in themselves before focusing in individual chapters on the relationships between translation on the one hand and semantics semiotics and the sound system of language on the other Part II explores the nature of meaning and the ways in which meaning can be shared in text pairs that are related to each other as first written texts and their translations while Part III focuses on the relationships between translation and interpreting and the written and spoken word Part IV considers the users of language and situations involving more than one language and Part V addresses technological tools that can assist language users Finally Part VI presents chapters on the links between areas of applied linguistics and translation and interpreting With an introduction by the editor and an extensive bibliography this handbook is an indispensable resource for advanced students of translation studies interpreting studies and applied linguistics An Introduction to Arabic Translation Hussein

Abdul-Raof,2022-10-10 Combining theory and practice this book is a model for Arabic translation and prepares students for the translation industry Containing 22 approaches An Introduction to Arabic Translation provides the normative principles to guide training in Arabic English Arabic translation It revitalizes Arabic English Arabic translation through its empirical textual reality hinged upon Arabic and English authentic contexts and their linguistic discourses and cultural incongruity The exercises in each chapter provide practical training supported by translation theory The translation commentaries included represent a critical translation quality assessment based on an analysis of discourse and textual features to highlight the process of translation the translation approach adopted and why Such commentary invites students to reflect on their understanding of the translation process and the approach required for a given Arabic English Arabic translation problem Providing a methodologically comprehensive course of Arabic English Arabic translation studies and insightful discussion of high value for both students and teachers this book will be invaluable to anyone seeking to learn or improve their Arabic and translation skills

New Insights into Corpora and Translation Daniel Gallego-Hernández, 2016-05-11 This publication brings together some of the papers presented at the 4th International Conference on Corpus Use and Learning to Translate CULT which took place at the University of Alicante on 27-29 May 2015 organised by the University's Department of Translation and Interpreting Spanish and international researchers translator trainers and trainee and professional translators gathered at the conference in order to further their knowledge of corpus use translation training and professional practice The book includes contributions on the use of multilingual corpora in teaching scientific translation trans collocations in parallel corpora teaching and learning the language of tourism as a Language for Specific Purposes LSP and a collocational analysis of verb work in a specialised corpus of English non financial reports among others

The Map Jenny Williams, Andrew Chesterman, 2014-04-08 The Map is a practical guidebook introducing the basics of research in translation studies for students doing their first major research project in the field Depending on where they are studying this may be at advanced undergraduate BA or at postgraduate MA PHD level The book consists of ten chapters Chapter 1 offers an overview of 12 research areas in translation studies in order to help students identify a topic and establish some of the current research questions relating to it Chapter 2 is designed to assist students in planning their research project and covers topics such as refining the initial idea determining the scope of the project checking out resources reading critically keeping complete bibliographic records and working with a supervisor Chapters 3 to 7 provide some of the conceptual and methodological tools needed in this area of research with detailed discussion of such topics as theoretical models of translation types of research asking questions making claims formulating hypotheses establishing relations between variables and selecting and analyzing data Chapters 8 and 9 are about presenting one's research in writing as well as orally Finally chapter 10 deals with some of the criteria commonly used in research assessment especially in the assessment of theses The authors provide detailed guidance on further reading throughout This is an essential reference work for research students and lecturers involved in supervising research projects and degrees

Key Debates in the Translation of Advertising Material Beverly Adab, Cristina Valdes, 2016-04-01 Much has been written about the marketing aspects of promotional material in general and several scholars particularly in linguistics have addressed questions relating to the structure and function of advertisements focusing on images rhetorical structure semiotic functions discourse features and audio visual media amongst other aspects of the genre Not much on the other hand has been written within translation studies about the complexities involved in the transfer of an advertising message Contributors to this volume explore various interdependent aspects of the interlingual and intercultural transfer of an advertising message They emphasize features of culture specificity of multi medial semiotic interaction of values and stereotypes and most importantly they recommend strategies and approaches to assist translators Topics covered include a critique of the Western based approach to advertising in the context of the Far East different perceptions of the concept of cleanliness in advertising texts in Italy Russia and the UK the Walls Cornetto strategy of internationalization of product appeal followed by localization the role of the translator in recreating appeal in different lingua cultural contexts what constitutes Italianness in advertisements for British consumers and strategies for repackaging France as a tourist destination Translating Words, Transferring Wisdom, Traversing Worlds Mimi Yang, 2025-09-17 What happens when Translation Studies merges with Cultural Studies The merger unveils an encyclopedic world hidden behind the cross linguistic surface catapulting us into the realms of multilingual studies cognitive sciences social sciences history geopolitics the humanities and now the exponentially growing field of AI technologies This book brings together scholars from a multitude of disciplines to attest to the merger on a 21st century intercultural and interdisciplinary platform where inter cultural agility interpretative adaptability and resonant creativity emerge as a galvanizing force in Translation Studies In doing so cutting edge theories and concepts in the field such as trans creation and eco translation among others are highlighted More significantly the chapter authors examine linguistic hierarchies embedded in geopolitical power structures and dive into the cultural and historical depth to capture the essence of the paradoxes between translatability and untranslatability among traditions cognitive frameworks mental precepts and linguistic constructs Thus disciplinary boundaries fade into the background and a symbiotic linguistic cultural undertaking in Translation Studies is crystallized The book treats translation as both a linguistic and cultural endeavor with multimodal and multi layered interactions across all human realms Annotated Texts for Translation Christina Schäffner, Uwe Wiesemann, 2001-01-01 This text presents a functionalist approach to translation as a framework for dealing with recurring translation problems in a number of genres On the basis of illustrative sample texts the decisions taken in the production of the target texts are commented on in view of the specified translation assignments Research and Professional Practice in Specialised Translation Federica Scarpa, 2020-09-18 Specialised translation has received very little attention from academic researchers but in fact accounts for the bulk of professional translation on a global scale and is taught in a growing number of university level translation programmes This book aims to provide three things Firstly it offers a description of what makes the approach to specialised translation distinctive from wider ranging approaches to Translation Studies adopted by translation scholars and applied linguists Secondly unlike the traditional approach to specialised translation this book explores a perspective on specialised translation that is much less focused on terminology and more on the function and reception of specialised translated texts Finally the author outlines a professionally oriented hands on approach to the teaching of specialised translation resulting from many years of teaching it to MA students The book will be of interest to Translation Studies students and scholars as well as professional translators who are interested in the theory on which their activity is based
