Lewis, Emma Cownie, 1997 New research on political social legal and religious history of England and neighbours 7c 13c Emotion, Violence, Vengeance and Law in the Middle Ages, 2018-05-01 Contributions to this Festschrift for the renowned American legal and literary scholar William Ian Miller reflect the extraordinary intellectual range of the honoree who is equally at home discussing legal history Icelandic sagas English literature anger and violence and contemporary popular culture Professor Miller's colleagues and former students including distinguished academic lawyers historians and literary scholars from the United States Canada and Europe break important new ground by bringing little known sources to a wider audience and by shedding new light on familiar sources through innovative modes of analysis Contributors are Stuart Airlie Theodore M Andersson Nora Bartlett Robert Bartlett Jordan Corrente Beck Carol J Clover Lauren DesRosiers William Eves John Hudson Elizabeth Papp Kamali Kimberley Joy Knight Simon MacLean M W McHaffie Eva Miller Hans Jacob Orning Jamie Page Susanne Pohl Zucker Amanda Strick Helle Vogt Mark D West and Stephen D White Warfare in the Global Middle Ages David S. Bachrach, Bernard S.

Bachrach, 2025-09-30 War preparation for war and dealing with war's aftermath consumed the greater part of the surplus resources of societies around the globe throughout the pre modern period Military matters affected men women and children alike as direct participants in organized violence as the victims of conflicts or through broad based impositions on ostensibly civilian populations in cash kind and labor Warfare in the Global Middle Ages illuminates the organization and conduct of war as well as the impact of warfare on societies in Europe Asia Africa and the Americas across a long millennium spanning from the third century CE to the sixteenth century CE The volume is organized in eight chapters which address the current state of scholarship regarding warfare over this long period the source materials available to scholars to investigate the myriad questions related to this broad field and the institutions developed by societies to defend themselves and engage in wars of conquest military technology the logistics of war the education and training of military leaders and individual combatants as well as strategy military intelligence and diplomacy The authors argue that an analysis of these topics illuminates broad similarities among polities across the globe the transmission of ideas and technologies on a regional and global level and also important differences in the ways that societies responded to similar challenges This work is intended broadly both for specialists in the history of warfare across the globe for an interested lay public as well as for use in the classroom

Gender, Nation and Conquest in the Works of William of Malmesbury Kirsten A. Fenton, 2008 A fresh new approach to the works of William of Malmesbury looking in particular at his presentation of men and women William of Malmesbury is one of the most important English historians of the twelfth century not only a critical period in English history but also one that has been recognised as significant in terms of the writing of history and the construction of a national past This innovative study provides a gendered reading of Malmesbury's works with special reference to the themes of conquest and nation It considers Malmesbury's presentation of men and women both lay and religious through categories based on attributes such as sexual behaviour and violence rather than the more familiar professional or familial roles such as warrior and wife. It is also concerned with language and how the topics of conquest and nation are discussed in gendered terms. Importantly, attention is paid to Malmesbury's own position as a post-conquest chronicler writing at a time of church reform and to the impact the changes had upon the construction of the stories he narrates.

KIRSTEN A FENTON holds a Leverhulme Early Career Fellowship at the University of Edinburgh. Medieval Narrative Sources Werner Verbeke, Ludovicus Milis, Jean Goossens, 2005. Reduced Price Now only 15.00 instead of 51.50. More than ten years ago some mediaevalists of the KU Leuven and the University of Ghent joined together to create a repertory of medieval narrative sources focusing on the southern Low Countries. A pre-print was published in a paper version and was soon followed by the electronic database entitled Narrative Sources which is available through the Internet. Since 1996 Narrative Sources has been adapted, supplemented and rearranged every year and over the years the number of inventoried items has been increased to far more than 2150 titles. The information present thus far in Narrative Sources already allows and facilitates the study of the sources as such individually or collectively qualitatively or quantitatively. In a next step the goal would be the exploitation of the contents with a specific focus on monastic historiography, its social setting and self image. In this proceeding some of the scholars working on this project present their work, their methodology and their results to date.

Western Warfare In The Age Of The Crusades, 1000-1300 John France, 2020-09-16. In 1095 the First Crusade was launched, establishing a great military endeavour which was a central preoccupation of Europeans until the end of the thirteenth century. In Western warfare in the age of the Crusades, 1000-1300, John France offers a wide-ranging and challenging survey of war and warfare and its place in the development of European society, culture and economy in the period of the Crusades. Placing the crusades in a wider context, this book brings together the wealth of recent scholarly research on such issues as knighthood, siege warfare, chivalry and fortifications into an accessible form. Western warfare in the age of the Crusades, 1000-1300 examines the nature of war in the period 1000-1300 and argues that it was primarily shaped by the people who conducted war: the landowners. John France illuminates the role of property concerns in producing the characteristic instruments of war: the castle and the knight. This authoritative study details the way in which war was fought and the reasons for it, as well as reflecting on the society which produced the crusades.

Land and Ancestors Frans Theuvs, Nico Roymans, 1999. This volume includes an interdisciplinary research programme involving archaeological, anthropological and historical perspectives on different dimensions of the landscape. Although directed towards a specific region, the intensity of the archaeological fieldwork and the large scale of the excavations allow for interpretations that are important for the Northwest European Plain as a whole. Contributions include the publication of primary data of excavations published for the first time and analysis on a more abstract level. The studies include, among others, Urnfield symbolism, ancestors and the land in the Lower Rhine Region Roymans Kortlang Urnfield and settlement traces from the Iron Age at Mierlo Hout Tol The archaeology and history of the curia of the abbey of St Truiden at Hulsel Theuws Gift exchange eternity and landed property The foundation and endowment of the Premonstratensian priory at Postel Bijsterveld The Canons of the Third Lateran Council of 1179 Danica Summerlin, 2019-11-28 Investigates papal government in the later twelfth century focusing on the decrees issued at papal councils and their reception Scotland, England and France After the Loss of Normandy, 1204-1296 M. A. Pollock, 2015 An examination of the complex network of relationships and identity between England Scotland and France in the thirteenth century Monastic Revival and Regional Identity in Early Normandy Cassandra Potts, 1997 Normandy transformed from military power base of pagan Norse invaders to Christian political entity The rulers of Normandy performed a complex juggling act starting from a pagan Norse military power base round Rouen they built an accepted political entity within the boundaries of the Christian state their ancestors had invaded Successfully reconciling Viking Frankish and Breton elements within their realm the Norman rulers created one people out of the various races in the words of one eleventh century writer As part of that effort they revived and reformed the monasteries in the region enlisting the aid of prestigious abbots from reform centres beyond Normandy By the early eleventh century there was a consciousness within the region that a new people as well as a new principality had taken shape over the course of the past century In this process of state building and ethnogenesis the revival and reform of monasticism played a crucial role This book evaluates the relationship between Norman lords and monastic communities and demonstrates how that relationship contributed to the political and social evolution of the duchy Through this regional focus Monastic Revival and Regional Identity in Early Normandy adds to an understanding of the role monasticism played in tenth and eleventh century European society and more broadly in the formation of political and cultural entities in medieval Europe The conclusions presented in this study are based on an analysis of published sources as well as over two hundred unpublished monastic charters located in Norman archives and libraries Dr CASSANDRA POTTS teaches at Middlebury College
