Heartlands of Eurasia Anita Sengupta, 2009-07-16 Heartlands of Eurasia explores how received metageographical knowledge informs the understanding of global processes and is subsequently transformed into geopolitical reasoning with foreign policy implications It provides a detailed examination of writings from both within the region and outside that look into the significance of Halford Mackinder s heritage in the context of a vastly changed world situation In particular it attempts to examine how policy makers and strategic thinkers have used these geopolitical concepts as justification for their policy in the region Finally it attempts an analysis of the extent to which this policy thinking was translated into practice While the study looks into how the vision of the pivotal significance of a vast expanse of land finds its echoes in contemporary narratives it also underlines the very creative ways in which Mackinder s ideas have been reinterpreted in keeping with the changing global dynamics Making use of the way in which the region has been traditionally defined and the way in which the people defined themselves the study brings into focus a debate on the usefulness of region or area based studies that are located in geographical imaginations Anita Sengupta uses this connection to examine the following issues geopolitical imaginations and their relevance in identifying areas in the present context the intersection between how areas are defined from an outsider perspective and how people define themselves the extent to which these definitions have influenced policy and the possibility or feasibility of the development of alternative geostrategic discourses Mackinder himself did not specify the geographical area identified first as the pivot and later the heartland but his ideas were focused on the closed heartland of Euro Asia an area that was unassailable by sea power This study therefore centers its debates around the Eurasian space in general though the focus is on the Central Asian region and Uzbekistan in p Heartland Memories: A Journey

Hoosiers in the Heartland Marty Pieratt, 2013-10-18 This is a collection of stories I wrote when my family was young and the world was more naive This is a record of life in and around the Heartland before 9 11 These are some stories I told that people seemed to remember My heroes have always been storytellers like the late Charles Kuralt of CBS's On The Road and Sunday Morning He was inspired by the great Hoosier war correspondent Ernie Pyle Today there's the great American raconteur Bob Dotson Not long ago when the NBC Today Show reporter spoke to a group of our students at Indiana University he reminded us of the wonderful stories that have made our country great He said to remember The reason you got here is because of all those who came before We are not cut from one cloth he said He's not talking about retelling the day to day murder mayhem and politics journalists must cover but looking under rocks and beside creeks to find stories about folks who work hard play hard and pray hard These are people who fly under the celebrity radar but who are the sturdy foundation of our country A lot of folks like that can be found in Indiana I'll never be able to take you on the remarkable journeys that Bob does with his words but I can share what it is about Indiana people places and things that I've come to hold dear in my world Much of it revolves around my family which is probably a lot like yours What I wrote was the mood and passion of my heart at that time in that place It is true that precious people and things reveal themselves in passing from us I'd like to share some of my precious memories from the past Maybe it will stir your memories and help encourage us all to appreciate the here and now
