The Intimate Machine Neil Frude, 1984-08-07      Sex/Machine Patrick D. Hopkins, 1998 As powerful interacting social and physical forces gender and technology shape our experiences cultures and identities sometimes in such comfortable and subtle ways that it takes effort to appreciate them sometimes in such conspicuous and explosive ways that everyone recognizes their importance Delving into these issues is an opportunity to discover how technology promises or threatens to rewrite our ideas about sex sexuality and gender identity      The Intimate Machine Neil Frude, 1983      The Plot Machine Kai Mikkonen, 2001 This book presents a new and exciting theory of the modern French novel by developing the notion of the narrative as a textual machine Many turn of the century French novels thematically identified their means of narration through the various machines that they depicted The narrative devices that were particularly important in this self reflection included the temporal order of the plot the question of a narrative s beginning and end the hierarchy of narrative voices and the techniques of the point of view The question of mechanization became central on all these fronts Has the novel become automated or machine like At the same time the machine metaphors in the novels of Alfred Jarry Emile Zola Jules Verne Villiers de l Isle Adam Raymond Roussel combined the question of the narrative form with new ways to think about man s relationship with technology and the cultural environment The early modernist texts drew upon contradictory notions of technological promise and threat while they also depicted new forms of identity and behavior related to or modeled after machines These texts highlighted cultural assumptions concerning technological innovations and critiqued mainly through parody and through various figures of man machine fusion the positivistic belief in progress Such writers looked for evidence of advanced forms of consciousness arising out of encounters with new technology such as telephones trains bicycles telegraphy phonographs and electricity This volume will be of interest to anyone working in the field of modern French literary and cultural history It will especially appeal to anyone intrigued with the origins of the modernist novel the history of narrative forms and the question of how the experience of new technology may be portrayed in literary texts      The Creation of a Conscious Machine Jean Tardy, 2023-12-15 Describes seven novel variations of the Turing test Outlines an original definition of consciousness described as implementable specifications Introduces the concept of Mathematics as a genetically transmissible cognitive medium This book presents a groundbreaking journey into the world of Generative AI technology and offers an in depth look at the prospect of AI achieving consciousness The book navigates through various historical and modern perspectives on AI from ancient myths to the Turing Test to the latest in technological advancements It covers the theoretical and practical aspects of creating a conscious AI including the specifications for synthetic consciousness and the integration of AI with human cognition The book questions whether generative AI can meet the traditional criteria of consciousness and how this might be realized      Machinery Fred Herbert Colvin, Lester Gray French, 1900      Thinking Like a Machine Niki Passath, 2017-10-10 In many modes of behavior people act more and more like machines In the context of work people have become a human resource that can be replaced at any time An existence without purpose cannot be imagined just as a machine without function is absurd Do humans already think like machines Do they have a master slave relationship with them Are humans no longer any more than an organic prosthetic fitted to an inorganic body With his created robotic beings Niki Passath breaks with this seemingly rational technological system By eliminating the predominant rationality of the machine he gives it a new meaning This book is the first monograph on the artist s oeuvre Internationally renowned experts shed light on the many facets of his work      Advanced Knitting powered computers that are creating art literature and music that may well surpass the creations of humans Today s computers are composing music that sounds more Bach than Bach turning photographs into paintings in the style of Van Gogh s Starry Night and even writing screenplays But are computers truly creative or are they merely tools to be used by musicians artists and writers In this book Arthur I Miller takes us on a tour of creativity in the age of machines Miller an authority on creativity identifies the key factors essential to the creative process from the need for introspection to the ability to discover the key problem He talks to people on the cutting edge of artificial intelligence encountering computers that mimic the brain and machines that have defeated champions in chess Jeopardy and Go In the central part of the book Miller explores the riches of computer created art introducing us to artists and computer scientists who have among much else unleashed an artificial neural network to create a nightmarish multi eyed dog cat taught AI to imagine developed a robot that paints created algorithms for poetry and produced the world s first computer composed musical Beyond the Fence staged by Android Lloyd Webber and friends But Miller writes in order to be truly creative machines will need to step into the world He probes the nature of consciousness and speaks to researchers trying to develop emotions and consciousness in computers Miller argues that computers can already be as creative as humans and someday will surpass us But this is not a dystopian account Miller celebrates the creative possibilities of artificial intelligence in art music and literature
