The Iron Chalice:

The Iron Chalice Octavus Roy Cohen, 1925 The Iron Age I Structure on Mt. Ebal Ralph K. Hawkins, 2012-06-01

In Josh 8 30 35 Israel constructs an altar on Mt Ebal in fulfillment of the command of Deut 27 1 8 This structure had very important social political and religious implications for Israel for it was the first structure to be built after the people entered the land of Canaan Once the altar was completed sacrifices were to be offered on it and a renewal of the covenant was to be carried out patterned after the ritual of Deut 31 9 13 This covenant renewal was necessary to integrate the people into the covenant who had not been a part of the Sinai experience The event was significant enough to establish nearby Shechem as the tribal league shrine and it was the first political and religious ceremony that the Israelites undertook following their entry into the land As a covenant ratification it could be described as their ratification as a nation The altar on Mt Ebal and its concomitant ceremony were therefore according to the claims of the Hebrew Bible of supreme importance in the life of ancient Israel In 1980 during the survey of the territory of Manasseh Israeli archaeologist Adam Zertal discovered a site on Mt Ebal dating to the period of Iron I during which the Israelites began to sedentarize in the central hill country of Canaan The site was excavated over eight seasons from 1982 to 1989 under the auspices of the University of Haifa and the Israel Exploration Society In 1985 Zertal published an article in which he suggested that the structure on Ebal may have been the altar of Josh 8 30 35 In The Iron Age I Structure on Mt Ebal Ralph Hawkins reviews the excavation on Mt Ebal and its results including the scarabs seals and animal bones found there He examines the architecture of the site in relation to Mesopotamian watchtowers altars and the descriptions of altars in mishnaic materials Ezekiel and Deuteronomic passages This fascinating book examines the Mt Ebal site using a comparative method for both the physical data and the textual data The site and its artifacts are analyzed and then compared with alternative proposals and literary traditions The site is placed in its broader regional context in order to determine how it might relate to the larger settlement picture of Iron Age I The primary purpose is to examine the data with a view to determining the nature and function of the site and its possible relation to Josh 8 30 35 A compelling read for biblical and archaeological students and scholars who will better be able to envision sites of past events

Late Bronze and Iron Age Chalices in Canaan and Ancient Israel Robert Grutz, 2007 This study arranges in chronological order approximately 450 ceramic artefacts known as chalices found in more than 50 excavations in Late Bronze and Iron Age strata within Canaan and Ancient Israel The study also proposes a typology for these chalices

The Cypro-Phoenician Pottery of the Iron Age Nicola Schreiber, 2021-10-01 For almost a century scholars have been perplexed by Cypro-Phoenician or Black on Red pottery In this major study Dr Schreiber's research coupled with her own work in the field resolves the pottery's origin and provides a fresh assessment of the chronology of the region Transporting perfumed oil around the Mediterranean and Near East the pottery offers valuable clues to Iron Age trade shipping cargoes and trading entrepôts Dr Schreiber investigates the sources of perfumed oil and the relative roles of Cyprus and Phoenicia in trade to the Aegean islands The book provides archaeologists and historians with a work of key significance in unravelling the human narrative of the early centuries of the 1st millennium BC

Llandaff Church Plate George Eley Halliday, 1901 DAN IV - The Iron Age I Settlement David Ilan, 2020-04-25 In this comprehensive final report David Ilan and 12 other contributing authors present the rich finds from the Iron Age I circa 1200-950 BCE levels at Tel Dan gleaned in the course of Avraham Biran's 1966-1999 excavations at the site. The architecture, ceramics, metal, flint, bone, and ground stone objects and ecofacts all contribute to the portrayal of a cosmopolitan society that thrived initially under Egyptian imperial rule, subsequently forging its own way with the departure of Egyptian hegemony. The early Iron Age levels at Tel Dan show material evidence for the presence of local peoples, Egyptians, Cypriots, Aegeans, and Syrians who together negotiated a new identity as Danites. Adelaide, Queen of Italy; Or, The Iron Crown William Bernard MacCabe, 189? Theobald, the Iron-Hearted; Or, Love to Enemies César Malan, 2023-08-12 In Theobald the Iron Hearted Or Love to Enemies by César Malan, readers are transported to a vivid world of medieval romance, intrigue, and redemption. The narrative, written in a flowery, descriptive prose typical of the Romantic era, captures the essence of chivalry and honor while also delving into the complexities of love and forgiveness. The book's exploration of conflicting emotions and moral dilemmas makes it a compelling read for those interested in historical fiction and moral philosophy. Malan's vivid imagery and intricate character development further enhance the immersive experience of the novel. César Malan, a Swiss pastor and theologian, drew inspiration from his deep faith and personal experiences to craft a story that grapples with themes of compassion, mercy, and the power of love to transform even the hardest of hearts. His background in theology and literature shines through in the book's nuanced exploration of human nature and the divine potential for redemption. I recommend Theobald the Iron Hearted Or Love to Enemies to readers who appreciate thought-provoking narratives that delve into the complexities of human emotions and relationships, as well as those interested in historical fiction with a moral underpinning. On the Skirts of Canaan in the Iron Age Edward Lipiński, 2006 The history of Canaan in the Iron Age is generally written from the perspective of the kingdoms of Israel and Judah. The scope of this book is to inverse this relation and to focus on the skirts of Canaan while regarding the United Monarchy and the Divided Monarchy as external and sometimes marginal players of the regional history. After having examined the transition from the Late Bronze Age to the Iron Age in the mid-12th century B.C., the book deals thus with the Philistines and the role of Egypt in Canaan during Iron Age II, especially in the face of the Assyrian expansion. It treats further of the Phoenicians and the Aramaeans. There follow five chapters on Bashan, Gilead, Ammon, Moab, and Edom, with the Negeb. Several indices facilitate the consultation of the work on particular topics. The Cumulative Book Index, 1928 A world list of books in the English language. The United States Catalog, 1928 The Late Bronze Age and Early Iron Ages of Central Transjordan Patrick E. McGovern, Robin Brown, 1986 A critical transition period in the archaeology and history of Palestine: the Late Bronze Age and Early Iron Age is described in detail from the perspective of a group of sites in the Baq'ah Valley. A major emphasis is on how scientific techniques, including magnetic location of undisturbed burial deposits and analytical reconstruction of very early industries, can be effectively integrated into an archaeological project. Contrary to traditional views, the evidence supports a relatively peaceful development within a single cultural tradition rather than the intrusion of a
