

"An absolutely riveting history of the American and European behind-the-lines unconventional warriors of World War II."

—LINDA ROBINSON author of Masters of Chaos

The Jedburghs tells the story of a pioneering Special Forces unit, uniquely made up of American, British, and French volunteers. They parachuted behind the German lines to assist with the recapture of France in 1944. Dropped in teams of three, the Jeds would rally local opposition to the Germans and conduct guerrilla warfare—sabotage, ambush, and intelligence gathering—ahead of the advancing Allied armies. Through enormous endurance, cunning, and strength of will, they contributed to the Allied breakout from the Normandy beachhead and to the rapid advance to the German border.

Will Irwin, who served in the modern U.S. Army Special Forces himself, has selected seven of the Jedburgh teams and told their stories as gripping personal narratives, offering a new perspective on the D-Day landings. The result is a vivid drama of the battle for France from deep behind enemy lines.

"Will Irwin's timely chronicle of [the Jedburgh's] many hair-raising missions will delight both military history buffs and those looking for a genuine page-turner."

—ALEX KERSHAW, author of The Bedford Boys and The Fear

Will Irwin retired from the United States Army in January 2000 after a career of more than twenty-eight years, half of that in Special Forces. He now works as a defense contractor. Born in Iowa, Irwin lives in Valrico, Florida.

The Jedburghs The Secret History Of The Allied Special Forces France 1944:

The Jedburghs Will Irwin, 2005-10-10 The Jedburghs were a pioneering Special Forces unit uniquely made up of American British and French volunteers They parachuted deep behind the German lines to assist with the recapture of France in 1944 Dropped in teams of three the Jeds would rally local opposition to the Germans and conduct guerrilla warfare sabotage ambush and intelligence gathering ahead of the advancing Allied armies In doing so they contributed to the Allied breakout from the Normandy bridgehead and to the rapid advance to the German border Above all the Jedburgh teams were trained to survive The three man teams could not be certain that their communications with London would survive the drop or that any meaningful resupply would be possible They had to operate alone against extraordinary odds in a country almost entirely occupied by a hostile force prepared to survive pitched battles with the Wehrmacht and relentless manhunts by the Gestapo Nor did they know how long they would have to wait before the Allied front line reached them It was an enormous test of endurance cunning and strength of will The Jedburghs tells the story of these heroic young men and offers a new perspective on the D Day landings Will Irwin who served in the modern U S Army Special Forces himself has selected seven of the Jedburgh teams and told their stories as gripping personal narratives He has gathered archival documents diaries and correspondence and interviewed veterans and family members in order to present a full portrait of their crucial role recognized by Churchill and Eisenhower in the struggle to liberate Europe It is narrative history at its most compelling a vivid drama of the battle for France from deep behind enemy lines BOOK JACKET The Jedburghs Will Irwin, 2006-10-10 The story of the Special Forces in World War II has never fully been told before Information about them began to be declassified only in the 1980s Known as the Jedburghs these Special Forces were selected from members of the British American and Free French armies to be dropped in teams of three deep behind German lines There in preparation for D Day they carried out what we now know as unconventional warfare supporting the French Resistance in guerrilla attacks supply route disruption and the harassment and obstruction of German reinforcements Always they operated against extraordinary odds They had to be prepared to survive pitched battles with German troops and Gestapo manhunts for weeks and months while awaiting the arrival of Allied ground forces They were in short heroes The Jedburghs finally tells their story and offers a new perspective on D Day itself Will Irwin has selected seven of the Jedburgh teams and told their stories as gripping personal narratives He has gathered archival documents diaries and correspondence and interviewed Jed veterans and family members in order to present this portrait of their crucial role a role recognized by Churchill and Eisenhower in the struggle to liberate Europe in 1944 45 This is narrative history at its most compelling a vivid drama of the battle for France from deep behind enemy lines The Jedburghs Will Lt. Col. Ret. Harcourt-Kelly, 2025-06-30 In October 1943 Frederick Bailey a wireless operator who had trained with the Royal Armoured Corps was selected for Special Operation Executive's wireless training centre at Fawley Court Henley on Thames It was the start of an incredible wartime career that saw Fred serve behind enemy lines in both the European and Far East theatres With his training complete and having adopted the fieldname R tiff Sergeant Bailey became a member of one of the famous Jedburgh units Team Citr en The Jedburghs generally consisted of compact teams of three men usually an officer a radio operator and a soldier from the country the team was to be dropped into Together with Major John Smallwood and Captain Pierre Bloch a French Foreign Legionnaire Bailey as Team Citr en's radio operator was dropped in into the Lagarde area of the Vaucluse region in German occupied France by an American aircrew from Algiers during the night of 11/12 August 1944 Their mission was to support the local Resistance groups in the rear of the German units trying to hold back the Allied forces sweeping through France after D Day As Maxine Harcourt Kelly reveals the fear of Bailey's transmissions being intercepted by the Germans as well as the constant danger of their location being revealed by informers meant that Team Citr en was constantly on the move Despite this on one occasion the group knocked out an enemy tank with the help of an intrepid young Frenchman who ran up to it armed only with a grenade and dropped it through the driver's viewing hatch One morning Bailey learnt that a large German convoy was moving along the road from Grenoble to Lyon He sent a coded message to HQ in Algiers asking for an immediate air strike A series of Mosquito fighter bombers attacked and destroyed the whole convoy Fred also caused major disruption to German attempts to withdraw by calling in air support which destroyed a vital bridge Fred was Mentioned in Despatches and awarded the Croix de Guerre with Bronze Star by the French With his war in Europe over Fred volunteered to serve with SOE's Force 136 in the Far East He was duly sent out to Burma where he was dispatched into the Keren Hills to monitor the routes being used by the retreating Japanese Fred was able to send regular reports on enemy troop movements and direct Allied air strikes On one occasion they ambushed a Japanese convoy A fierce firefight developed but they slipped back into the jungle before the Japanese could counter attack These attacks were so disruptive that the Japanese were forced to form a special force to hunt Fred's team down As they could not be resupplied Fred's team grew weaker Before long with nothing to eat but a handful of rice each day the team was beginning to starve It was left with no option but to evacuate Even then Fred's adventures were far from over In August 1945 he was dropped into Malaya tasked with finding any American aircrew who had been shot down and taken prisoner south of Kuala Lumpur This is the action packed story of one man's remarkable war serving in Allied Special Forces units behind enemy lines in both Occupied Europe and the Far East Task Force Butler: Major Michael J. Volpe, 2015-11-06 On 15 August 1944 an Allied army launched a second amphibious landing against the coast of southern France The Allies having shattered German defenses around the beachhead decided to exploit the chaos in the enemy camp On 17 August 1944 Major General MG Lucian K

Truscott Jr with no mobile organic strike force assigned to his VI Corps ordered the assembly of and attack by an ad hoc collection of units roughly equivalent to an armored brigade This provisional armored group Task Force TF Butler experienced remarkable success despite a dearth of planning no rehearsals and no history of working together in either training or combat This case study examines the success of TF Butler from the perspectives of doctrinal development in the United States U S Army the unit s unique task organization and the leadership s employment of the unit in combat The use of ad hoc formations to meet unforeseen situations was not unique to World War II American units currently serving in the Middle East are regularly assigned units they have no habitual relations with to conduct combat operations This case study may prove useful in preparing contemporary military leaders for the types of challenges they will face conducting operations in the contemporary operational environment

The Riviera at War George G. Kundahl,2017-05-30 During World War II three distinct forces opposed the Allies Germany Italy and Japan Few areas of the world experienced domination by more than a single one of these but southeastern France the region popularly known as the Riviera or Cote d Azur was one Not only did inhabitants suffer through Italian Fascism and German Nazism but also under a third hardship at times even more oppressive the rule of Vichy France Following a nine month prelude the reality of World War II burst onto the Riviera in June 1940 when the region had to defend itself against the Italian army and ended in April 1945 with a battle against German and Italian forces in April 1945 a period longer than any other part of France In this book George G Kundahl tells for the first time the full story of World War II on the French Riviera Featuring previously unseen sources and photographs this will be essential reading for anyone interested in wartime France

Among the Firsts: Lieutenant Colonel Gerhard L. Bolland's Unconventional War Matthew T. Bolland,2022-05-19 In his own words the war of the doubly pioneering Lt Col Gerhard L Bolland 82nd Airborne paratrooper on D Day and senior OSS field operative on Operation Rype Unconventional warfare tactics can have a considerable effect on the outcome of any war During World War II the United States government developed and employed two new methods of fighting The first was the development of paratroop units as they were first called The second was the formation of a covert and sabotage operations branch called the Office of Strategic Services OSS Lt Colonel Bolland was involved in both of these firsts During the D Day invasion he parachuted behind enemy lines jumping out of the 82nd Airborne lead aircraft with General James Gavin After fighting with the 507th Parachute Infantry Regiment for thirty three days straight he returned to England and became involved with the OSS Scandinavian Section He served as Field Commander for their Operation code named Rype This was the only American military undertaking albeit covert in Norway during the entire course of the war As a young boy growing up in rural western Minnesota Bolland got his military start with the Minnesota National Guard before being accepted to West Point solely on merit His military career lasted seventeen years Lt Colonel Bolland ended up with numerous decorations including the Norwegian Liberation Medal and Citation the Bronze Star for valor the French Fourragere of Croix de Guerre with Palms and posthumously the Congressional Gold medal awarded to the OSS Society on behalf of all former OSS members that served during the war His story reveals the struggles successes failures and ultimate victories detailing what went right and what went wrong with these new unconventional methods of fighting

Improvised Explosive Devices James Revill, 2016-07-15 This book begins with an account of the evolution of improvised explosive devices using a number of micro case studies to explore how and why actors have initiated IED campaigns how new and old technologies and expertise have been exploited and how ethical barriers to IED development and deployment have been dealt with It proceeds to bring the evidence from the case studies together to identify themes and trends in IED development before looking at what can realistically be done to mitigate the threat of IEDs in the new wars of the twenty first century The book suggests that the advance and availability of a combination of technological factors in conjunction with changes in the nature of contemporary conflicts have led to the emergence of IEDs as the paradigmatic weapons of new wars However their prevalence in contemporary and future conflicts is not inevitable but rather depends on the willingness of multiple sets of actors at different levels to build a web of preventative measures to mitigate if not eradicate IED development and deployment throughout France called weapons and explosives down from the skies and became a linchpin for the Resistance. Even as her face covered wanted posters and a bounty was placed on her head, Virginia refused order after order to evacuate. She finally escaped through a death-defying hike over the Pyrenees into Spain, her cover blown. But she plunged back in, adamant that she had more lives to save and led a victorious guerilla campaign liberating swathes of France from the Nazis after D Day.

Based on new and extensive research, Sonia Purnell has for the first time uncovered the full secret life of Virginia Hall, an astounding and inspiring story of heroism, spy craft, resistance and personal triumph over shocking adversity. A Woman of No Importance is the breathtaking story of how one woman's fierce persistence helped win the war. Encyclopedia of Military Science G. Kurt Piehler, 2013-07-24

The Encyclopedia of Military Science provides a comprehensive ready reference on the organization, traditions, training, purpose and functions of today's military. Entries in this four-volume work include coverage of the duties, responsibilities and authority of military personnel and an understanding of strategies and tactics of the modern military and how they interface with political, social, legal, economic and technological factors. A large component is devoted to issues of leadership, group dynamics, motivation, problem solving and decision making in the military context. Finally, this work also covers recent American military history since the end of the Cold War, with a special emphasis on peacekeeping and peacemaking operations, the First Persian Gulf War, the events surrounding 9/11 and the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq, and how the military has been changing in relation to these events. Why Don't We Build Statues For Our War Heroes Anymore Human Factors in Effective Counter-Terrorism Richard Warnes, 2024-02-29

This book seeks to provide a comparative assessment of the significance of human factors in effective counter terrorism. The phrase 'human factors' is used to describe personal relationships, individual capabilities, effective leadership, technical interface, organisational culture and the community engagement necessary to effectively minimise and control the threat of terrorism. Unlike many works in the field, this book is constructed around the input of experienced knowledge from over 170 semi-structured interviews of specialist military, policing, intelligence and security practitioners, those actors actually involved in countering terrorism. These practitioners come from seven countries: the United Kingdom, Ireland, France, Spain, Israel, Turkey and the United States, all of which have suffered over the years from different types of terrorist threat and responded with a mixture of counter terrorist measures. Where military practitioners also discussed overseas counter insurgency measures, that material has been included since terrorism forms a key aspect of such wider insurgencies. The resulting interview data was analysed through a variant of Grounded Theory to identify key emerging themes and issues, both positive and negative, relevant to human factors in the individual countries and more generically. This book incorporates the informed operational experiences and insights of the interviewees while seeking to provide examples of successful counter terrorist measures at the strategic, operational and tactical levels. This book will be of much interest to students of counter terrorism, defence studies and security studies in
