Moulton, 2002-01-01 Lively and curious possessing a keen eye for detail and a knack for skin dressing Private Joseph Whitehouse produced an account that stands as the only surviving record by any army private in the Corps of Discovery expedition In simple and well paced sentences he painted full portraits of the unusual group of men he accompanied on one of the greatest adventures in American history Whitehouse s journal is published here in full for the first time including entries from a second copy of his journal that extend the narrative for five months beyond previous editions Although Whitehouse s career after the expedition was checkered and he disappeared after 1817 his vivid eyewitness account will long be remembered Whitehouse s journal joins the celebrated Nebraska edition of the complete journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition which feature a wide range of new scholarship dealing with all aspects of the expedition from geography to Indian cultures and languages to plants and animals The Journals of the Lewis and Clark Expedition: The journals of Joseph Whitehouse, May 14, 1804-April 2, 1806 Meriwether Lewis, William Clark, Gary E. is one of the least known of the expedition party Following the expedition Whitehouse had a checkered army career and he disappeared after 1817 His capabilities have been unfairly slighted by previous commentators despite his narrative skill and evidence that he was a man of a lively and curious mind His extensive journal entries contribute to our understanding of the epochal journey and of the unusual group of men who undertook one of the defining events in our history The last part of his journals was not found until 1966 this is the first publication of the complete record of his account Original Journals of the Lewis and Clark Expedition. The Journals of the Lewis and Clark Expedition: April 7-July 27, 1805 Gary E. Moulton, 1987-06-01. When the Atlas of the Lewis and Clark Expedition appeared in 1983, critics hailed it as a publishing landmark in western history. Fully living up to the promise of the first volume were the second volume, which began the actual journals and brought the expedition through its first year to August 1804, and the third volume, which brought the explorers through a winter at Fort Mandan (present North Dakota) and to April 1805. This eagerly awaited fourth volume begins on April 7, 1805, when Meriwether Lewis and William Clark and their permanent party set out from Fort Mandan traveling up river along the banks of the Missouri. For the first time they entered country never explored by whites. With the help of the Shoshone Indian woman Sacagawea, they hoped to make friendly contact with her people, then cross the Rocky Mountains and eventually reach the Pacific. They were to spend the rest of the spring and the early summer toiling up the Missouri or around its perilous falls. Along the way they encountered grizzly bears, cataloged new species of plants and animals, and mapped rivers and streams. Sacagawea recognized landmarks; meeting her people became the next great concern of the expedition when they reached the three forks of the Missouri in late July. Superseding the last edition published early in this century, the current edition contains new materials discovered since then. It expands and updates the annotation to take account of the most recent scholarship on the many subjects touched on by the journals.

The Journals of Lewis and Clark Meriwether Lewis, William Clark, 2010-11-01. The journals of Lewis and Clark have been called a national treasure. The Corps of Discovery helped to open the Louisiana Purchase to hundreds of thousands of pioneering settlers. We're proud to bring this recreation of those handwritten texts to a new generation of readers, learners, and historians. In 1803, President Thomas Jefferson commissioned the Corps of Discovery as a scientific and military expedition to explore the newly acquired Louisiana Purchase. The expedition's goal was stated by Jefferson in a letter dated June 20, 1803, to Lewis: to explore the Missouri River and such principal stream of it as by its course and communication with the waters of the Pacific Ocean, whether the Columbia, Oregon,

Colorado or any other river that may offer the most direct and practicable water communication across this continent for the purpose of commerce 6 In addition the expedition was to learn more about the Northwest s natural resources inhabitants and possibilities for settlement 7 as well as evaluating the potential interference of British and French Canadian hunters and trappers who were already well established in the area Jefferson selected U S Army Captain Meriwether Lewis his aide and personal friend to lead the Corps of Discovery Lewis selected William Clark as his partner Because of bureaucratic delays in the U S Army Clark officially only held the rank of Second Lieutenant at the time but Lewis concealed this from the men and shared the leadership of the expedition always referring to Clark as Captain They began their historic journey on May 14 1804 They soon met up with Lewis in Saint Charles Missouri and the corps followed the Missouri River westward Soon they passed La Charrette the last caucasian settlement on the Missouri River The expedition followed the Missouri through what is now Kansas City Missouri and Omaha Nebraska On August 20 1804 the Corps of Discovery suffered its only death when Sergeant Charles Floyd died apparently from acute appendicitis He was buried at Floyd s Bluff in what is now Sioux City Iowa During the final week of August Lewis and Clark had reached the edge of the Great Plains a place abounding with elk deer bison and beavers The expedition continued to follow the Missouri to its headwaters and over the Continental Divide at Lemhi Pass via horses In canoes they descended the mountains by the Clearwater River the Snake River and the Columbia River past Celilo Falls and past what is now Portland Oregon At this point clarification needed Lewis spotted Mount Hood a mountain known to be very close to the ocean On a big pine Clark carved Clark had written in his journal Ocean in view O The Joy One journal entry is captioned Cape Disappointment at the Entrance of the Columbia River into the Great South Sea or Pacific Ocean By that time the expedition faced its second bitter winter during the trip so the group decided to vote on whether to camp on the north or south side of the Columbia River The party agreed to camp on the south side of the river modern Astoria Oregon building Fort Clatsop as their winter quarters While wintering at the fort the men prepared for the trip home by boiling salt from the ocean hunting elk and other wildlife and interacting with the native tribes The explorers began their journey home on March 23 1806 Lewis and Clark used four dugout canoes they bought from the Native Americans plus one that they stole in retaliation for a previous theft Lewis and Clark separated until they reached the confluence of the Yellowstone and Missouri Rivers on August 11 Clark s team had floated down the rivers in bull boats Once reunited the Corps was able to return home quickly via the Missouri River They reached St Louis on September 23 1806
