Colour-Coded Constance Backhouse,1999-11-20 Historically Canadians have considered themselves to be more or less free of racial prejudice Although this conception has been challenged in recent years it has not been completely dispelled In Colour Coded Constance Backhouse illustrates the tenacious hold that white supremacy had on our legal system in the first half of this century and underscores the damaging legacy of inequality that continues today Backhouse presents detailed narratives of six court cases each giving evidence of blatant racism created and enforced through law The cases focus on Aboriginal Inuit Chinese Canadian and African Canadian individuals taking us from the criminal prosecution of traditional Aboriginal dance to the trial of members of the Ku Klux Klan of Kanada From thousands of possibilities Backhouse has selected studies that constitute central moments in the legal history of race in Canada Her selection also considers a wide range of legal forums including administrative rulings by municipal councils criminal trials before police magistrates and criminal and civil cases heard by the highest courts in the provinces and by the Supreme Court of Canada The extensive and detailed documentation presented here leaves no doubt that the Canadian legal system played a dominant role in creating and preserving racial discrimination A central message of this book is that racism is deeply embedded in Canadian history despite Canada s reputation as a raceless society Winner of the Joseph Brant Award presented by the Ontario Historical Society

Writing Unemployment Jody Mason, 2013-01-01 This landmark study explores the cultural and literary history of unemployment in Canada from the 1920s to the 1970s which were crucial decades in the formation of our current conception of Canada as a nation Writing Unemployment asks how writers with diverse political affiliations participated in and protested against the discursive framing of unemployment It argues that Depression era conceptions of unemployment shaped later twentieth century understandings of both worklessness and citizenship By examining novels short stories poetry manifestos and agitprop Jody Mason situates the literary history of the cultural left in a broader context challenges the dominant literary historical narrative of the pioneer settler and contributes to new scholarship on Canada's modern period By bridging close textual readings with book and publishing history economic and sociological analysis and original archival research Writing Unemployment offers new ideas on work by many of Canada's most important writers

The African Canadian Legal Odyssey Barrington Walker, 2012-01-01 The African Canadian Legal Odyssey explores the history of African Canadians and the law from the era of slavery until the early twenty first century This collection demonstrates that the social history of Blacks in Canada has always been inextricably bound to questions of law and that the role of the law in shaping Black life was often ambiguous and shifted over time Comprised of eleven engaging chapters organized both thematically and chronologically it includes a substantive introduction that provides a synthesis and overview of this complex history This outstanding collection will appeal to both advanced specialists and undergraduate students and makes an important contribution to an emerging field of scholarly inquiry

The Thin Edge of Innovation Roger Hayter, Jerry Patchell, Kevin Rees, 2025-02-14 Aligned with global trends in post industrialization the economy of Metro Vancouver is changing but along its own trajectory The focus is shifting away from resource based activities to local entrepreneurial initiatives across a remarkable range of industries from software to craft beer biopharmaceuticals to mountain bikes This evolution is being shaped by local business and the city's location on the national and global periphery The Thin Edge of Innovation focusses on the performance of signature businesses in these entrepreneurial sectors to grow and foster industrial clusters and integrate with the global economy The contributors give a mixed report card to this economic transition Within Metro Vancouver innovation has stimulated economic diversification and promises to deliver high income jobs But this diversification has also been thinly spread and lacks deep local roots or dominant anchor companies This constructive study examines the distinctive opportunities facing Metro Vancouver Despite challenges it reveals a region with undoubted potential for sustained broadly beneficial local development

Canadian Criminology Margaret Jackson, Curt Taylor Griffiths, Alison Hatch, 1991 Hobohemia and the Crucifixion Machine Todd McCallum, 2014-12-28 In the early years of the Great Depression thousands of unemployed homeless transients settled into Vancouver's hobo jungle. The jungle operated as a distinct community in which goods were exchanged and shared directly without benefit of currency. The organization of life was immediate and consensual, conducted in the absence of capital accumulation. But as the transients moved from the jungles to the city, they made innumerable demands on Vancouver's Relief Department, consuming financial resources at a rate that threatened the city with bankruptcy. In response, the municipality instituted a card control system, no longer offering relief recipients currency to do with as they chose. It also implemented new investigative and assessment procedures, including office spies to weed out organizational inefficiencies. McCallum argues that threatened by this ungovernable society, Vancouver's Relief Department employed Fordist management methods that ultimately stripped the transients of their individuality. Vancouver's municipal government entered into contractual relationships with dozens of private businesses, tendering bids for meals in much the same fashion as for printing jobs and construction projects. As a result, entrepreneurs clamoured to get their share of the state spending. With the emergence of work relief camps, the provincial government harnessed the only currency that homeless men possessed: their muscle. This new form of unfree labour aided the province in developing its tourist-driven image economy, as well as facilitating the transportation of natural resources and manufactured goods. It also led eventually to the most significant protest movement of the 1930s in Canada: the On to Ottawa Trek. Hobohemia and the Crucifixion Machine explores the connections between the history of transiency and that of Fordism, offering a new interpretation of the economic and political crises that wracked Canada in the early years of the Great Depression. Runner's World On the Road Doug Rennie, 2002-10-11 This running enthusiasts' pocket size reference reveals where to run, stay, eat, and shop in 40 top American cities and around the world. 40 maps. The New Partridge Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English Tom Dalzell, Terry Victor, 2015-06-26 Booklist Top of the List Reference Source The heir and successor to Eric Partridge's brilliant magnum opus The Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English, this two-volume New Partridge Dictionary of Slang and Unconventional English is the definitive record of post-WWII slang.
