Science of God Kevin J. Sharpe, 2006 Is theology responsible to tradition or new insight Institutional church or humanity at large Spiritual or everyday existence Revelation or scientific findings In his new book Science of God Truth in the Age of Science Kevin Sharpe proposes a method for doing theology which does not divorce it from the practical applications of science Not only does this work establish that theology ought to be empirical in what it says about the world and God's relationship to it but it also outlines a clear method for doing this Science and theology can each share the same empirical method when each attempts a description of any part of reality it is relying on its own essential assumptions or lens When applied to theology the method assumes the existence of God and then seeks the nature of God using falsifiable and verifiable techniques Starting with the sciences that examine happiness particularly biology genetics psychology and social psychology Science of God seeks to understand the spiritual nature of humans and through it the nature of God
