Autobiographical Identities in Contemporary Arab Culture Valerie Anishchenkova, 2014-07-16 Over the last 40 years autobiography in Arab societies has moved away from exemplary life narratives and toward more unorthodox techniques such as erotic memoir writing postmodernist self fragmentation cinematographic self projection and blogging Valerie Anishchenkova argues that the Arabic autobiographical genre has evolved into a mobile unrestricted category arming authors with narrative tools to articulate their selfhood Reading works from Arab nations such as Egypt Iraq Morocco Syria and Lebanon Anishchenkova connects the century's rapid political and ideological developments to increasing autobiographical experimentation in Arabic works The immense scope of her study also forces consideration of film and online forms of self representation and offers a novel theoretical framework to these various modes of autobiographical cultural production All the Women Inside Me Jana Elhassan, 2022-12-07 Shortlisted for the International Prize of Arabic Fiction Surviving a cold childhood overshadowed by her parents unhappiness and their distant relationship to her Sahar expects to escape through marriage when she meets the compelling and charming Sami who is interested in every detail of her life But what seemed at first to be his loving interest rapidly becomes controlling and ultimately abusive Sahar yearns for a way out of her intertwined experiences of loss and loneliness In All the Women Inside Me Jana Elhassan presents an intricate psychological portrait of a woman as well as the complexities of interpersonal relationships The novel's innovative structure allows it to plumb psychological and philosophical depths beyond the specific characters revealing a profound humanity Sahar's father is the lapsed leftist who masks his boredom by busying himself with great causes Her depressed mother's nerves are as delicate as the crystal she keeps immaculately polished in her home A charlatan sheikh trades in religious magic making a profit off of people's misery A boyfriend leaves his great love to marry a more appropriate good girl Sahar navigates her way through so many relationships ill prepared by her parents and unhappy childhood home Her imagination is what allows her to act out all of the desires she has been denied throughout her whole life from her childhood to her abusive marriage But she also finds solace in her best friend Hala who has faced her own difficult childhood and adolescence and later a series of destructive relationships At the same time that this novel is able to capture the intensity of emotions and experiences in women's lives it is not merely a story about the power of imagination to enrich the lives of oppressed women Elhassan's novel is a stark appraisal of how far women are pushed and the length to which women will go to escape a reality that is rotten at the core

Dust That Never Settles Amir Moosavi, 2025-06-10. Lasting from September 1980 to August 1988, the Iran-Iraq War was the longest conventional war fought between two states in the twentieth century. It marked a period that began just after a revolutionary government in Iran became an Islamic Republic and Saddam Hussein consolidated power in Iraq. It ended with both wartime governments still in power, borders unchanged, yet hundreds of thousands of people dead. Neither side emerged as a clear victor, but both sides would eventually claim victory in some form. Dust That Never Settles considers how Iraqi and Iranian writers have wrestled with representing the Iran-Iraq War and its legacy from wartime to the present. It demonstrates how writers from both countries have transformed once militarized, officially sanctioned war literatures into literatures of mourning and eventually into vehicles of protest that presented powerful counternarratives to the official state narratives In writing the first comparative study of the literary output of this war Amir Moosavi presents a new paradigm for the study of modern Middle Eastern literatures He brings Persian and Arabic fiction into conversation with debates on the political importance of cultural production across the Middle East and North Africa and he puts an important new canon of works in conversation with comparative literary and cultural studies within the Global South CDA and PDA Made Simple Bahaa-eddin M.
