Deploy those texts and shape those contexts in ways that affect flesh and bone psychology and social conduct and the spatial organization and relational dynamics of dwellings and streets settlements and regions and states and empires Stretch these activities over the Anglophone world from the epicentres of the United Kingdom and the United States to Australia or Canada New Zealand or India and extend their reach over the whole of the long nineteenth century Such are the subjects of this work in which Elaine Stratford draws from governmentality the geohumanities and geocriticism to converse with an extensive archive that profoundly shaped our engagements with home nature and the feminine ideal deeply influenced our collective capacity to flourish and powerfully constituted diverse geographies of the interior and of empire that still affect us

Katherine Appleford, 2020-10-14 Drawing together theoretical ideas from across the social sciences Classifying Fashion Fashioning Class examines how the fashion class association has developed and using the experiences of middle and working class British women demonstrates how this relationship operates today Though increasingly academics argue that contemporary class distinctions are made through cultural practices and tastes few have fully explored just how individual s fashion choices mobilise class and are used in class evaluations Yet an individual s everyday dress is perhaps the most immediate marker of taste and thus an important means of class distinction This is particularly true for women as their performances of respectability femininity and motherhood are embodied by fashion and shaped by class In unpacking this fashion class relationship the book explores how fashion is used by British women to talk about class It offers important insights into the ways fashion mobilises class differences in understandings of dressing up performance and public space It considers how class identity shapes women s attitudes concerning fashion trends and classic styles and it draws attention to the pivotal role mothers play in cultivating these class distinctions The book will be of interest to students in sociology fashion studies cultural studies human geography and consumer behaviour
