

The image features two young boys with short brown hair, dressed in dark suits with white shirts and ties. They are standing in the center, facing each other slightly. They are surrounded by four large, brown, vintage-style suitcases. Two suitcases are on the floor, and two are floating in the air above them. A small, red and white figure, possibly a toy or a small person, is on the floor near the bottom left. The background is a blurred, purple and blue gradient. The entire scene is framed by a thick, multi-colored border (cyan, purple, and blue).

Karen Levine,2002-08-07 New edition with foreword by Nobel Peace Prize winner Desmond Tutu How extraordinary that this humble suitcase has enabled children all over the world to learn through Hana s story the terrible history of what happened and that it continues to urge them to heed the warnings of history In the spring of 2000 Fumiko Ishioka the curator of a small Holocaust education centre for children in Tokyo received a very special shipment for an exhibit she was planning She had asked the curators at the Auschwitz museum if she could borrow some artifacts connected to the experience of children at the camp Among the items she received was an empty suitcase From the moment she saw it Fumiko was captivated by the writing on the outside that identified its owner Hana Brady May 16 1931 Waisenkind the German word for orphan Children visiting the centre were full of questions Who was Hana Brady Where did she come from What was she like How did Hana become an orphan What happened to her Fueled by the children s curiosity and her own need to know Fumiko began a year of detective work scouring the world for clues to the story of Hana Brady Writer Karen Levine follows Fumiko in her search through history from present day Japan Europe and North America back to 1938 Czechoslovakia and the young Hana Brady a fun loving child with a passion for ice skating Together with Fumiko we learn of Hana s loving parents and older brother George and discover how the family s happy life in a small town was turned upside down by the invasion of the Nazis Based on an award winning CBC documentary Hana s Suitcase takes the reader on an incredible journey full of mystery and memories which come to life through the perspectives of Fumiko Hana and later Hana's brother who now lives in Canada. Photographs and original wartime documents enhance this extraordinary story that bridges cultures, generations and time. Ideal for young readers aged 9 and up. Hana's Suitcase is part of the award-winning Holocaust Remembrance Series for Young Readers. From the Holocaust to Hogan's Heroes Robert Clary, 2007-12-17 Holocaust Sensitive Objects Jonas Frykman, Maja Povrzanovic Frykman, 2016-04-12 Some objects seem especially personal and important to us be it a quickly packed suitcase, an inherited vase or a photograph. In Sensitive Objects the authors discuss when, how and why particular objects appear as sensitive. They do so by analyzing the objects' affective charging in the context of historically embedded practices. Sensitive Objects is a contribution to the upcoming field of affect research that has so far been dominated by psychology and cultural studies and the authors examine the potential for epistemic gain by connecting the studies of affect with the studies of material culture. The contributors, predominantly ethnologists and anthropologists, use fieldwork to examine how people project affects onto material objects and explore how objects embody or trigger affects and produce affective atmospheres. A Shirt Box Full of Songs Barbara Dickson, 2012-05-24 From singing to the postman when she was two years old to her annual sell-out tours in the 2000s, Barbara Dickson has been captivating her fans for the best part of sixty years. In her autobiography she describes the joys of growing up in Fife with her talented brother and loving parents, of moving to Edinburgh to find her place in the world and the stresses and strains of trying to make a living on the Scottish folk scene. Not content to have just a successful singing career, she turned to another acting. A regular on prime-time television, Barbara also took to musicals and was the original lead role in Spend Spend Spend. Her hugely successful time on stage earned her many acting accolades, but her pursuit of perfection led to complete exhaustion from which she fought hard to recover. Barbara writes beautifully about the close relationships she cultivated over these years with people such as Willy Russell, Elaine Paige and Billy Connolly. The result is a warm, fascinating story encompassing the best of British music, stage and television. Songs of Resilience Andy Brader, 2011-01-18 The chapters of this book form a persuasive chorus of social practices that advocate the use of music to build a capacity for resilience in individuals and groups. As a whole, they exemplify music projects that share common features aligned with an ecological view of reform in health, education and social work systems. Internationally renowned and early-career academics have collaborated with practitioners to sing Songs of Resilience, some of which are narratives that report on the effects of music practices for a general population and some are based on a specific approach, genre or service. Others are quite literally songs that demonstrate aspects of resilience in action. The book makes the connection between music and resilience explicit by posing the following questions: Do music projects in education, health and social services build a measurable capacity for resilience amongst individuals? Can we replicate these projects' outcomes to develop a capacity for resilience in diverse cultural groups? Does shared use of the term resilience help to secure funding for innovative musical activities that provide tangible health, education and social outcomes? Stories,
