Black Women's Liberation Movement Music Reiland Rabaka,2023-10-30 Black Women s Liberation Movement Music argues that the Black Women s Liberation Movement of the mid to late 1960s and 1970s was a unique combination of Black political feminism Black literary feminism and Black musical feminism among other forms of Black feminism This book critically explores the ways the soundtracks of the Black Women s Liberation Movement often overlapped with those of other 1960s and 1970s social political and cultural movements such as the Black Power Movement Women s Liberation Movement and Sexual Revolution The soul funk and disco music of the Black Women s Liberation Movement era is simultaneously interpreted as universalist feminist in a general sense and Black female focused This music s incredible ability to be interpreted in so many different ways speaks to the importance and power of Black women s music and the fact that it has multiple meanings for a multitude of people Within the worlds of both Black Popular Movement Studies and Black Popular Music Studies there has been a long standing tendency to almost exclusively associate Black women s music of the mid to late 1960s and 1970s with the Black male dominated Black Power Movement or the White female dominated Women s Liberation Movement However this book reveals that much of the soul funk and disco performed by Black women was most often the very popular music of a very unpopular and unsung movement The Black Women s Liberation Movement Black Women s Liberation Movement Music is an invaluable resource for students teachers and researchers of Popular Music Studies American Studies African American Studies Critical Race Studies Gender Studies and Sexuality Studies

Black Women Film and Video Artists Jacqueline Bobo,2013-09-13 Black women film and video makers have been producing shorts documentaries and films since the early part of this century Unfortunately not only has their work been overlooked by distributors but critical reviews have been few and far between Conceived to redress that omission Black

Women Film and Video Artists is the first comprehensive history and analysis of this genre. Gathered here are noted scholars and critics as well as the film video makers themselves who offer insight into the work of underexplored artists. The discussions range from pioneering to contemporary film makers and include artists such as Madeline Anderson, Monica Freeman, Jacqueline Shearer, Kathleen Collins, Julie Dash, Camille Billops, Zeinabu irene Davis, and Michelle Parkerson among others. Contributors include Jacqueline Bobo, Carmen Coustaut, Gloria J. Gibson, C. A. Griffith, Monique Guillory, Carol Munday Lawrence, O. Funmilayo Makarah, Ntongela Maselila, Jacqueline Shearer, P. Jane Splawn. "My Soul Is A Witness" Carol Henderson, 2021-03-29. This special collection assembles some of the most pre-eminent scholars in the field in African American and American Studies to explore the ways writers reclaim the Black female body in African American literature using the theoretical, social, cultural, and religious frameworks of spirituality and religion. Central to these discussions is Black women's agency within these realms, their uncanny ability to invent and reinvent themselves within individual and communal spaces that frame them as both outsider and insider, unworthy and worthy, deviant and sacred, excess and minimal. Scholars have sought to discuss these tensions, acknowledged and affirmed in prose, poetry, music, essays, speeches, written plays, or short stories. Forgiveness, healing, redemption, and reclamation provide entry into these vibrant explorations of self-discovery, passion, and self-creation that interrogate traditional views of what is spiritual and what is religious. Discussed writers include Toni Morrison, Phillis Wheatley, James Baldwin, Tina McElroy Ansa, Toni Cade Bambara, and Thomas Dorsey. The Spirit of Soul Food Christopher Carter, 2021-12-21. Soul food has played a critical role in preserving Black history, community, and culinary genius. It is also a response to and marker of centuries of food injustice. Given the harm that our food production system inflicts upon Black people, what should soul food look like today? Christopher Carter's answer to that question merges a history of Black American foodways with a Christian ethical response to food injustice. Carter reveals how racism and colonialism have long steered the development of US food policy. The very food we grow, distribute, and eat disproportionately harms Black people specifically and people of color among the global poor in general. Carter reflects on how people of color can eat in a way that reflects their cultural identities while remaining true to the principles of compassion, love, justice, and solidarity with the marginalized. Both a timely meditation and a call to action, The Spirit of Soul Food places today's Black foodways at the crossroads of food justice and Christian practice.

Recovering the Black Female Body Michael Bennett, Vanessa D. Dickerson, 2001. Recovering the Black Female Body recognizes the pressing need to highlight through scholarship the vibrant energy of African American women's attempts to wrest control of the physical and symbolic construction of their bodies away from the distortions of others. Treating Black Women with Eating Disorders Charlynn Small, Mazella Fuller, 2020-07-14. Growing Up Postmodern Ronald Strickland,2002-06-25 This collection takes its inspiration from Paul Goodman s Growing Up Absurd a landmark critique of American culture at the end of the 1950s Goodman called for a revival of social investment in urban planning public welfare workplace democracy free speech racial harmony sexual freedom popular culture and education to produce a society that could inspire young people and an adult society worth joining In postmodernity Goodman s enlightenment era vision of social progress has been judged obsolete For many postmodern critics subjectivity is formed and expressed not through social investment but through consumption the freedom to consume has replaced political empowerment But the power to consume is distributed very unevenly and even for the affluent it never fulfills the desire produced by the advertising industry The contributors to this volume focus on adverse social conditions that confront young people in postmodernity such as the relentless pressure to consume social disinvestment in education harsh responses to youth crime and the continuing climate of intolerance that falls heavily on the young In essays on education youth crime counseling protest movements fiction identity formation and popular culture the contributors look for moments of resistance to the subsumption of youth culture under the logic of global capitalism
