Silent to Sound Geoff Brown, 2024-10-22 Silent cinema was never silent But from the mid 1920s onwards the sound part of the cinema experience was transformed by the arrival of films long and short with clearly audible talk music and sound effects built in It marked the most fundamental shift in cinema technology since cinema s birth The first book devoted to Britain s conversion to talkies and the result of eight years research Silent to Sound British Cinema in Transition takes a lively and comprehensive look at the production side of the British sound revolution stretching from experimental efforts in the late 19th century through the sound shorts of the 1920s to the key year of 1929 the year of Hitchcock s Blackmail Britain s first home grown talkie feature and the industry turmoil that followed The narrative concludes in 1934 when John Grierson s GPO Film Unit finally acquired sound equipment prompting a late burst of experimentation just when commercial feature soundtracks had settled down Films familiar neglected and unknown are examined overripe melodramas the lost Black Waters local versions of Hollywood musicals Harmony Heaven visually elaborate science fiction High Treason plus newsreels documentaries amateur films and the last phase of British silent production The impact of sound on studio technique is examined along with the industry's complex relations with Britain's strong theatre traditions with Europe and above all cinema's superpower America It's also never forgotten that the sound transition was shaped not just by technology but by the talents foibles and follies of individual people Film history with a human face

"Film Europe" and "Film America" Andrew Higson, Richard Maltby, 1999 A volume of specially commissioned essays dealing with the attempts to create a pan European film production movement in the 1920s and 1930s and the reactions of the American film industry to these plans to rival its hegemony The book has an impressive array of top scholars from both America and Europe including Thomas Elsaesser Kristin Thompson and Ginette Vincendeau as well as essays by some younger scholars who have recently completed new archival research It also includes a number of primary documents selected by the contributors to illuminate their arguments and provide a stimulus to further research This book is a volume in the series Exeter Studies in Film History and represents a major contribution to cinema scholarship as well as reflecting a strong interest in an area of study currently being developed in university departments and at the British Film Institute Winner Prix Jean Mitry 2000
