recognizing the music's importance both as formal template and as explicit subject matter. Moving on from the use of iconic musical figures and motifs in Harlem Renaissance art, this groundbreaking collection explores the more allusive and elusive references to jazz and blues in a wide range of mostly contemporary visual artists. There are scholarly essays on the painters Rose Piper, Graham Lock, Norman Lewis, Sara Wood, Bob Thompson, Richard H. King, Romare Bearden, Robert G. O. Meally, Johannes V. Izz and Jean Michel Basquiat, Robert Farris Thompson, as well as an account of early blues advertising art, Paul Oliver, and a discussion of the photographs of Roy DeCarava, Richard Ings. These essays are interspersed with a series of in-depth interviews by Graham Lock who talks to quilter Michael Cummings and painters Sam Middleton, Wadsworth Jarrell, Joe Overstreet, and Ellen Banks about their musical inspirations, and also looks at art's reciprocal effect on music in conversation with saxophonists Marty Ehrlich and Jane Ira Bloom. With numerous illustrations both in the book and on its companion website, The Hearing Eye reaffirms the significance of a fascinating and dynamic aspect of African American visual art that has been too long neglected.

Museum Media Michelle Henning, 2020-11-19 MUSEUM MEDIA Edited by Michelle Henning. Museum Media explores the contemporary uses of diverse media in museum contexts and discusses how technology is reinventing the museum. It considers how technological changes from photography and television through to digital mobile media have given rise to new habits, forms of attention and behaviors. It explores how research methods can be used to understand people's relationships with media technologies and display techniques in museum contexts, as well as the new opportunities media offer for museums to engage with their visitors. Entries written by leading experts examine the transformation of history and memory by new media, the ways in which exhibitions mediate visitor experience, how designers and curators can establish new kinds of relationships with visitors, the expansion of the museum beyond its walls and its insertion into a wider commercial and corporate landscape. Focusing on formal, theoretical and technical aspects of exhibition practice, this in-depth volume explores questions of temporality, attachment to objects, atmospheric and immersive exhibition design, the reinvention of the exhibition medium, and much more.

Sound, Sin, and Conversion in Victorian England Julia Grella O'Connell, 2018-04-19. The plight of the fallen woman is one of the salient themes of nineteenth-century art and literature; indeed, the ubiquity of the trope galvanized the Victorian conscience and acted as a spur to social reform. In some notable examples, Julia Grella O'Connell argues, the iconography of the Victorian fallen woman was associated with music, reviving an ancient tradition conflating the practice of music with sin and the abandonment of music with holiness. The prominence of music symbolism in the socially committed, quasi-religious paintings of the Pre-Raphaelites and their circle, and in the Catholic Wagnerian novels of George Moore, gives evidence of the survival of a pictorial language linking music with sin and conversion, and shows even more remarkably that this language translated fairly easily into the cultural lexicon of Victorian Britain. Drawing upon music iconography, art history, patristic theology, and sensory theory, Grella O'Connell investigates female fallenness and its implications against the backdrop of the social and religious turbulence of the mid-
