exhibited by the author's parents and elders in the family this book serves as a testament to the lessons learned throughout the author's own life. She grew up in a multigenerational family within a small island village where families resided for generations and coexisted harmoniously regardless of religion, caste, or social status. She received early education in a boarding school established by Christian missionaries where education and the cultivation of values based on spirituality laid the foundation for embracing the world with an open mind. Wearing simple uniforms and refraining from the use of jewelry and makeup allowed each individual's personal beauty to shine without any extravagance. Simplicity and character were the jewels. The author's experiences across various settings will bear witness to this truth. Losing Everything S. P. Murray, 2017-12-12

Losing Everything: A Family's Journey with Alzheimer's Disease is written about our long journey with Mom and her illness as well as how this disease has impacted our lives. Alzheimer's is a thief that slowly robs families of loved ones long before their lives end. This book is in memory of the mother we once knew and even though she is still alive, she was stolen by this disease and is now forever lost to us. Mom is sick and getting sicker each day. Once Mom became ill, I began keeping a journal with the idea that it might help Mom's memory. Of course it did not. Instead, the journal is a series of anecdotes that touches on all the core emotions that we feel: anger, frustration, laughter, and most importantly, love. Hope's Path to Glory Jerdine Nolen, 2024-04-30

When a slave-owning family decides to go to California to mine for gold, twelve-year-old Clementine, whose mother calls her Hope, travels with them, which ultimately leads her on a journey to freedom. A Journey to Remember L. The Christian Family Magazine, 1843 A Families

Journey with Alzheimer's Disease Bob Sh'mal Ellenberg, 2019-03-08 The book is about the author and his father who had Alzheimer's disease. Because of the author's experience with people with AD, he knew he could care of his father. There was family conflict since the author's mother did not want her husband to live so far from her. The son showed complete compassion for both his parents, finally agreeing on an assisted living facility. The author discusses the many trips he took to visit his father and his mother, who was still living in their condo. The author's mother was a very conflicted woman who was adamant about all she believed but sadly was obviously at times confused. There were many quarrels between the mother and son. After twelve months in assisted living, the author brought his father to his home. The son wanted to do his best, once his father was in his home, but having three young children living with him and working full time in a hospital as a social worker, none of it was easy. The author concludes this trying emotional story with a trip to Denver, Colorado. Before the author leaves
