Railway Town, Company and People 1840-1914 Diane K. Drummond, 2017-07-05 This is an important contribution to the new urban history describing and analysing one of the best examples of a company town in nineteenth century Europe This archetypal railway town was built on a green field site by a railway company in 1842 3 It was a major junction an administrative centre and an important manufacturing centre Thus it provides an ideal arena in which to study the relationship between company and people and the effects of this claustrophobic association on emerging economic and social structure and politics in the era of large scale development and modernisation in Europe and America Dianne Drummond applies the full range of modern urban historical approaches in this work It is a shining example of the ways in which new techniques in research analysis and comparison can redraw the best known histories It will be essential reading for urban historians

Those WERE the Days Barrie C. Woods, 2017-11-22 A fascinating tale of a young school boy s exploits in his quest to spot every steam locomotive in the UK during the 1950s such as the Castleford Snow occurrence contretemps with a herd of Bullocks run ins with the law and shed foremen sleeping rough on many occasions a scary walk over Crumlin viaduct our coach catching fire on the M1 plus many more we visited locomotive sheds over 600 times during which I recorded in excess of 21 000 engines We travelled by any means available coach bus mini bus bicycle car motorbike train ferry and a lot of hitchhiking The latter including one such ride on a 9F which took me right into the shed I was about to bunk We would take every opportunity to be by our beloved steam engines daily on the way to from school then again in the evenings and every 2 3 weeks off on a tour somewhere in the UK some of these lasted 4 5 days often with rather dubious overnight accommodation these tours were to all parts of the UK from South Wales to Aberdeen the Northwest Northeast Midlands North Wales south to Brighton Southampton Isle of Wight West country and dozens of other locations The book has full colour card covers is A4 portrait style of 185 pages and over 100 B W photos At the end of the text are two appendices the first lists every shed visited and the relevant dates the second lists in chronological order every locomotive seen its shed and date Barrie

Great Western Pannier Tank Classes David Maidment, 2019-11-30 This comprehensive and fully illustrated history presents an in depth look at the Great Western Railway s various pannier tank engines Though hauling freight was a vital part of Great Western Railway s history and where it made the majority of its profit there are few books devoted to the stout powerful engines that did the work In Great Western Pannier Tank Classes British Railways expert David Maidment corrects that oversight This volume explores the large number of 0 6 0 saddle tanks built for both the Great Western Railway and the independent railway companies in South Wales most of which were converted to pannier tanks in the Churchward and Collett eras While covering the Armstrong and Dean engines in detail Maidment goes on to describe the design construction and operation of the largest class of steam engines built in the UK in the last century Charles Collett's GWR 5700 class examples of which were still being built after nationalization Collett also designed pannier tank engines for branch passenger and freight work and his successor Frederick Hawksworth continued the GW tradition with a tapered boiler version All of these are discussed in depth in terms of their design and service A concluding chapter covers further designs that were never built
