Chinese Food and Foodways in Southeast Asia and Beyond Tan Chee-Beng, 2012-08-01 Chinese cuisine has had a deep impact on culinary traditions in Southeast Asia where the lack of certain ingredients and access to new ingredients along with the culinary knowledge of local people led Chinese migrants to modify traditional dishes and to invent new foods This process brought the cuisine of southern China considered by some writers to be the finest in the world into contact with a wide range of local and global cuisines and ingredients When Chinese from Southeast Asia moved on to other parts of the world they brought these variants of Chinese food with them completing a cycle of culinary reproduction localization and invention and globalization The process does not end there for the new context offers yet another set of ingredients and culinary traditions and the embedding and fusing of foods continues creating additional hybrid forms Written by scholars whose deep familiarity with Chinese cuisine is both personal and academic Chinese Food and Foodways in Southeast Asia and Beyond is a book that anyone who has been fortunate enough to encounter Southeast Asian food will savour and it provides a window on this world for those who have yet to discover it Food and Foodways in Asia Sidney

Cheung, Chee-Beng Tan, 2007-06-11 Food is an important cultural marker of identity in contemporary Asian societies and can provide a medium for the understanding of social relations family and kinship class and consumption gender ideology and cultural symbolism However a truly comprehensive view of food cannot neglect the politics of food production in particular how when from where and even why different kinds of food are produced prepared and supplied Food and Foodways in Asia is an anthropological inquiry providing rich ethnographic description and analysis of food production as it interacts with social and political complexities in Asia s diverse cultures Prominent anthropologists examine how food is related to ethnic identity and boundary formation consumerism and global food distribution and the invention of local cuisine in the context of increasing cultural contact With chapters ranging from the invention of local food for tourism development to Asia s contribution to world cuisine Food and Foodways in Asia will be a fascinating read for anyone interested in the anthropology of food and or Asian studies The Pleasures and Horrors of Eating Marion Gymnich, Norbert Lennartz, 2010 Browsing through books and TV channels we find people pre occupied with eating cooking and competing with chefs Eating and food in today's media have become a form of entertainment and art. A survey of literary history and culture shows to what extent eating used to be closely related to all areas of human life to religion, eroticism and even to death. In this volume, early modern ideas of feasting, banqueting and culinary pleasures are juxtaposed with post-18th and 19th century concepts in which the intake of food is increasingly subjected to moral, theological and economic reservations. In a wide range of essays, various images, rhetorics and poetics of plenty are not only contrasted with the horrors of gluttony; they are also seen in the context of modern phenomena such as the anorexic body or the gourmandizing bête humaine. It is this vexing binary approach to eating and food which this volume traces within a wide chronological framework and which is at the core not only of literature, art and film but also of a flourishing popular culture.

Jews and Judaism in Modern China M. Avrum Ehrlich, 2009-09-10

Jews and Judaism in Modern China explores and compares the dynamics at work in two of the oldest intact and starkly contrasting civilizations on earth: Jewish and Chinese. The book studies how they interact in modernity and how each civilization views the other and analyses areas of cooperation between scholars, activists and politicians. Through evaluation of the respective talents, qualities and social assets that are fused and borrowed in the civilizational exchange, we gain an insight into the social processes underpinning two contrasting and long surviving civilizations. Identifying and analysing some of the emerging current issues, this book suggests Jewish-Chinese relations may become a growing discipline of import to the study of religion and comparative identity and looks at how the significant contrasts in Jewish and Chinese national constructs may serve them well in the quest for a meaningful discourse. Chapters explore identity, integrity of the family unit, minority status, religious freedom, ethics and morality, tradition versus modernity, the environment and other areas which are undergoing profound transformation. Identifying the intellectual and practical nexus and bifurcation between the two cultures' worldviews and identities, this work is indispensable for students of Chinese studies, sociology, religion and the Jewish diaspora and provides useful reading for Western tourists to China.

Mainstreaming the Marginalised Seemita Mohanty, 2021-09-06

This book offers a comprehensive view of the relationship between the Indian tribes and the mainstream. It covers key topics such as health, education, development, livelihood, disability and culture and presents new insights by focusing on the perspective of the 21st-century tribal youth of the country. The volume explores inclusive education for scheduled tribes, children, mainstreaming tribal children, mental health and superstition, ageing and morbidity and psychological distress among elderly tribal population, empowerment via handicraft livelihoods via non-timber forest produce, the Forest Rights Act, the tribal sub-plan approach, tribal cuisine and issues of food identity, myths and feminism. The book combines fresh research viewpoints with ideas on implementable solutions that would facilitate a more inclusive development for one of the most marginalized communities while highlighting critical issues and concerns. An important intervention, this book will be useful to scholars and researchers of tribal studies, sociology, rural sociology, development studies, social anthropology, political sociology, politics, ethnic studies, sociolinguistics, education and public policy and administration.
