Slave Of The Passion:

Not Passion's Slave Robert C. Solomon, 2003-01-30 The idea that we are in some significant sense responsible for our emotions is an idea that Robert Solomon has developed for almost three decades Here in a single volume he traces the development of this theory of emotions and elaborate it in detail Two themes run through his work the first presents a cognitive theory of emotions in which emotions are construed primarily as evaluative judgments The second proposes an existentialist perspective in which he defends the idea that as we are responsible for our emotions Indeed sometimes it even makes sense to say that we choose them While the first claim has gained increasing currency in the literature his claim about responsibility for emotions has continued to meet with considerable resistance and misinterpretation The new emphasis on evolutionary biology and neurology has mistakenly reinforced the popular prejudice that emotions happen to us and are entirely beyond our control This volume is also a kind of intellectual memoir of Solomon's own development as a thinker The essays written in the 1980s elaborate the themes of the intentionality of emotion and the claim that emotions are judgments in this period he is also increasingly preoccupied with how emotions vary and are identified in a variety of cultures In the 1990s his interests evolve to consider the social and political role of emotions and theories about emotion The final section presents his current philosophical position on the seeming passivity of the passions Despite his own critical assessment of his earlier work he continues to argue that in the final analysis we are responsible for our emotions and existential quality of our lives

The Passion for Happiness Adam Potkay, 2000 Although widely perceived as inhabiting different even opposed literary worlds Samuel Johnson 1709-1784 and David Hume 1711-1776 shared common ground as moralists Adam Potkay traces their central concerns to Hellenistic philosophy as conveyed by Cicero and to earlier moderns such as Addison and Mandeville Johnson's and Hume's large and diverse bodies of writings Potkay says are unified by several key questions What is happiness What is the role of virtue in the happy life What is the proper relationship between passion and reflection in the happy or flourishing individual In their writings Johnson and Hume largely agree upon what flourishing means for both human beings and the communities they inhabit They also tell a common story about the history that led up to the enlightened age of eighteenth century Europe On the divisive topic of religion these two great men of letters wrote with a decorum that characterizes the Enlightenment in Britain as compared to its French counterpart In The Passion for Happiness Adam Potkay illuminates much that philosophers and historians do not ordinarily appreciate about Hume and that literary scholars might not recognize about Johnson

Radical Passion Andrew Harvey, 2012-10-23 This culmination of award winning author Andrew Harvey s life s work bridges the great divide between spiritual resignation and engaged spiritual activism A manifesto for the transformation of the world through the fusion of deep mystical peace with the clarity of radical wisdom it is a wake up call to put love and compassion to urgent focused action According to Harvey we are in a massive global crisis reflected by a mass media addicted to violence and trivialization at a moment when what the world actually needs is profound inspiration a return to the heart centered way of the Divine Feminine the words of the mystics throughout the ages and the cultivation of the nonviolent philosophies of Gandhi Nelson Mandela Aung San Suu Kyi and the Dalai Lama Harvey s concepts of radical passion and sacred activism fly in the face of restraint of pessimism of denial of all that is inhumane fusing the mystic's passion for God with the activist's passion for justice and for healing the division between heaven and earth heart and will body and soul prayer and action Sacred activism asks that we engage deeply on a personal spiritual and political level so as to become a fully empowered fully active and contemplative humanity that can turn tragedy into grace and desolation into the opportunity to build and co create a new world Unlike many spiritual books Radical Passion does not veil the dark with artificial hope It explores the catastrophes of our current times and celebrates the ecstatic hope and divinity that is possible right now and in the future

Literary Passion, Ideological Commitment Dawn Duke,2008 This study examines Afro Cuban and Afro Brazilian women writers as well as analysing the roles of women of African descent in Cuban and Brazilian literature Initially literary imagination locked women into circumscribed roles a result of hierarchies embedded in slavery and colonialism and sustained by hierarchical theories on race and gender The discussion illustrates how these negative aspects have influenced the mainstream literary imagination that contrasts with the self portrayals created by women writers themselves Even as there continues to be disadvantageous constructions there is no doubt that a modification has occurred over time in images representation and articulation It is a change directly associated with the instances when women themselves are the writers The historiographic image of the Afro Cuban and Afro Brazilian woman as a written object is ideologically replaced by a vision of her as a writing subject It is here that the vision of a creative multifaceted and diversified literature becomes important

Glory, Passion, and Principle Melissa Lukeman Bohrer,2007-11-01 Much has been written of the brave deeds acts of heroism and intellectual prowess of the men who drafted the Declaration of Independence over two hundred years ago yet almost no attention has been paid to the extraordinary women of that time women who helped found our nation with courage sacrifice and intellect equal to any of the famed male politicians of 1776 Glory Passion and Principle tells the story of eight incredible

women each deprived of formal education world travel or equal status and yet all managed to flourish against incredible odds Whether advising such men as John Adams Thomas Jefferson or Benjamin Franklin on political theory publishing poems and plays that would rouse a nation to independent furor helping negotiate treaties acting as spies or fighting alongside men in the military these women broke the limiting definitions imposed upon them much as America was doing for itself and helped form and found the country that is America today Each chapter is dedicated to a different woman starting with Abigail Adams political confidante and wife of John Adams Using her intellect to influence her husband s position in the Continental Congress she earned the distinction of being the only person to put Thomas Jefferson in his place Nancy Ward the brave and diplomatic leader of the Cherokee tribe matured from a young widow to bold warrior risking her life and those of her people when she warned the Patriots of imminent attack by Native American tribes She became a strong voice when the Treaty of Hopewell was signed in 1785 Yet another bright light was Sybil Ludington a seventeen year old who took it upon herself to alert her town s militia that the British were coming and survived a ride twice as long as Paul Revere s And where Revere got caught Ludington did not Alongside Ludington Adams and Ward the five other chapters chronicle the lives of Deborah Sampson Lydia Darragh Mercy Otis Warren Phillis Wheatley and Molly Hays Filled with unimaginable heartbreak personal sacrifice and cunning survival skills Glory Passion and Principle is an inspiring testament to the women who undoubtedly made a considerable dent in our great nation s history
