Songs At the River's Edge Katy Gardner,1997-03-20 Katy Gardner s account of her fifteen month stay in the small Bangladeshi village of Talukpur has become a classic study of rural life in South Asia Through a series of beautifully crafted narratives the villagers and their stories are brought vividly to life and the author s role as an outsider sensitively conveyed in her descriptions of the warm friendships she makes Above all Songs at the River s Edge is written from a deep respect of Bangladesh and its country      Muslim Diversity Leif Manger,2013-10-18 The term local Islam has been coined to describe local responses to the effects of globalisation in the Islamic world All contributions to this volume present cases of local Islam as well as discussing the term itself But what all of this group of anthropologists and historians convey is a feeling of dissatisfaction with the very term Their uneasiness relates to the conceptual problems arising from seeing Islam as either local or global Rather the authors argue in favour of a focus not on Islam but on the lives of Muslims putting their lives into the context of complex historical developments Ranging across much of the vast extent of the Islamic world from West Africa and the Near East to China and Southeast Asia the contributions deal with the effects of migration on local Islamic traditions in Bangladesh conflicts between Muslim sects in Pakistan the development of jihad in West Africa the problem of maintaining a Muslim identity in China how Javanese Muslims combine their Islamic faith with belief in a local Javanese spirit world the comparison between urban and rural based Islam in Syria and in two studies from western Sudan issues of belief and broader aspects of identity management in a multi ethnic situation      Anthropology in the City Italo Pardo,Giuliana B. Prato,2016-05-23 With half of humanity already living in towns and cities and that proportion expected to increase in the coming decades society both Western and non Western is fast becoming urban and even mega urban As such research in urban settings is evidently timely and of great importance Anthropology in the City brings together a leading team of anthropologists to address the complex methodological and theoretical challenges posed by field research in urban settings clearly identifying the significance of the anthropological paradigm in urban research and its centrality both to mainstream academic debates and to society more broadly With essays from experts on wide ranging ethnographic research from fields as diverse as China Europe India Latin and North America and South East Asia this book demonstrates the contribution that empirically based anthropological analysis can make to our understanding of our increasingly urban world A Question of Identity Anne J.
