Swim Lynn Sherr, 2012-04-03 Explores the nature and appeal of swimming from the history of the strokes to aspects of modern Olympic competition as well as the author's personal experiences and milestones in the sport

The Bark of a Tree Kenney Oldham Hayes, 2019-02-12 Have you ever known someone who was an unforgettable person who changed the course of your life Did you ever wonder if the calling of God is real How about experiencing the presence of angels in a room before they usher a saint to heaven Or a love story that had a very unusual beginning What about some very interesting funeral stories These are lighthearted and personal stories told about a man of God who had a lasting impact in the lives of thousands No not a Billy Graham or even a Joel Osteen kind of impact but an impact from a local church in a small town in Texas squeezed between two major cities and led by a man who had multiple layers of talents and abilities He was just like the protective covering of a bark on a tree that protects from storms wind rain and gives life and shelter This generation of pastors were tough determined full of grit and obsessed with telling the world of God's unfailing love Dr Earl K Oldham wasn't just a pastor preacher boss author educator father husband and friend he was an instrument of God used to change lives bring hope to the hopeless train others to share the gospel and share God's plan of eternal life So no If you're looking for a book that is about a giant that everyone knows this is not the read for you But if you're looking to see how God can use a man fully surrendered to him and you like a giggle here and there well keep reading

I'm Walking as Straight as I Can Geri Jewell, 2011-04-01 A candid memoir of building an acting career and a happy life with cerebral palsy It's a joy to read this book Ian McShane Exposing real pain unstoppable perseverance and unquestionable faith in the human spirit this autobiography offers a true glimpse beyond actress Geri Jewell's public image as a one dimensional hero Born with cerebral palsy Jewell made history when she became the first person with a disability cast in a recurring role on American television in The Facts of Life and in the years that followed she experienced a string of other successes including a performance at the White House and a role on HBO's Deadwood But along with such accomplishments this personal story also depicts some of the less than rosy events that happened behind closed doors during her initial climb to fame among them her release from The Facts of Life her manager's embezzlement of the money she made on the show and her struggle with chronic pain despair and a fear of revealing her true sexual identity Told with grace and humor this inspirational narrative presents an honest portrayal of a woman who refused to give up when others kept knocking her down
