Symbolic Action Theory and Cultural Psychology Ernest E. Boesch, 2012-12-06 Gustav Jahoda University of Strathclyde

Ever since psychology emerged as a separate discipline about a century ago there have been differing views as to what it is or ought to be. Some like Ebbinghaus saw it as a budding natural science experimental and quantitative. Others like Dilthey regarded psychology in the main as a humane field of study historical and interpretative in character. The dichotomy of explaining versus understanding has been a subject of debate ever since. Regrettably most of the protagonists of these respective positions tend to view them as mutually exclusive in spite of the fact that already Wundt had stressed that hard experimental and soft Völkerpsychologie are both equally important. For the major part of the present century the field has been largely dominated by advocates of hard nosed scientific approaches typified first by Behaviorism and latterly cognitive psychology which concentrates on central processes involved in cognition. Without in any way wishing to denigrate the undoubted achievements of cognitive psychology it has its limitations that are epitomized by T. H. Huxley's dictum: 'The great end of life is not knowledge but action.' This might well serve as the motto for the action theory of Ernest Boesch who is one of several prominent psychologists out of harmony with the prevailing ethos. They travel under different banners such as social constructivism, ethogenics or hermeneutics but all share reservations about what many feel is the arid scientism of the mainstream.

Handbook of Cross-cultural Psychology: Theory and method John W. Berry, Ype H. Poortinga, Janak Pandey, 1997. Part of a set containing the contributions of authors from a variety of nations, cultures, traditions and perspectives, this volume offers an up to date assessment of theoretical developments and methodological issues in the rapidly evolving area of cross cultural psychology.

Discovering Cultural Psychology Walter J. Lonner, Susanna A. Hayes, 2007-06-01. This book is a landmark in contemporary cultural psychology. Ernest Boesch's synthesis of ideas is the first comprehensive theory of culture in psychology since Wilhelm Wundt's Völkerpsychologie of the first decades of the twentieth century. Cultural psychology of today is an attempt to advance the program of research that was charted out by Wundt yet at times we are carefully avoiding direct recognition of such continuity. While Wundt's experimental psychology has been hailed as the root for contemporary scientific psychology, the other side of his contribution, ethnographic analysis of folk traditions and higher psychological functions, has been largely discredited as something disconnected from the scientific realm. As an example of soft science lacking the hardness of experimentation, it has been considered to be an esoteric hobby of the founding father of contemporary psychology. Of course that focus is profoundly wrong; the opposition soft versus hard just does not fit as a metalevel organizer of any science. Yet the rhetoric discounting the descriptive side of Wundt's psychology is merely an act of social guidance of what psychologists do, not a way of creating knowledge.

Ten Years of Idiographic Science Sergio Salvatore,Jaan Valsiner,2023-01-01 The first volume of the Yearbook of Idiographic Science YIS was published on 2009 In a nutshell the idea at the grounds of the YIS project is that idiography and nomothetic are not juxtaposed logics and that the science cannot but be both nomothetic in the aim and idiographic in the modes About thirteen years later the sense and the direction of the YIS project envisaged in the first volume's introduction together with the difficulties to pursue it are still alive and valid Thus to both celebrate the milestone of the tenth issue and to plan the future we asked to some colleagues almost all contributors of previous volumes to discuss what idiographic science means today and what can mean tomorrow The works they have generously provided are very instructive each of them pictures a peculiar perspective on idiography that enables to recognize old and new challenges thus paving the way to innovative ideas and directions

meaning constructions Some touch on the subjects of biographical memory and biographical constructions of reality Of all the various affinities between the contributions collected here the most important is their consistent attention to issues of the constitution and representation of temporal experience
