Mount Shasta Darla Greb Mazariegos, 2007 For thousands of years native inhabitants revered this snowcapped volcano its craggy peaks thick forests crystal waters and abundant wildlife Lonely as god and white as a winter moon Mount Shasta starts up sudden and solitary from the heart of the great black forests of Northern California Joaquin Miller so eloquently wrote In the late 1820s trappers first encountered the mountain followed later by other explorers and travelers By the 1870s early settler Justin Sisson had developed a resort with guided tours to Mount Shasta's summit In 1887 after the railroad was completed the town of Sisson was established at the base of the mountain where hotels and saloons catered to tourists and lumbermen from nearby mills South of the mountain travelers on Southern Pacific's Shasta Route filled the resorts along the Sacramento River The new century brought a new mode of travel the automobile and a new name for Sisson Mount Shasta City was chosen to reflect the town's special connection to the mountain

Trading Beyond the Mountains Richard S. Mackie, 2011-11-01 During the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries the North West and Hudson's Bay companies extended their operations beyond the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Ocean There they encountered a mild and forgiving climate and abundant natural resources and with the aid of Native traders branched out into farming fishing logging and mining Following its merger with the North West Company in 1821 the Hudson's Bay Company set up its headquarters at Fort Vancouver on the lower Columbia River From there the company dominated much of the non Native economy sending out goods to markets in Hawaii Sitka and San Francisco Trading Beyond the Mountains looks at the years of exploration between 1793 and 1843 leading to the commercial development of the Pacific coast and the Cordilleran interior of western North America Mackie examines the first stages of economic diversification in this fur trade region and its transformation into a dynamic and distinctive regional
