Social Aspects Of Planning In New Towns:

Planning New Towns U.S./U.S.S.R. New Towns Working Group, United States. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Office of International Affairs, 1981 The British New Towns Meryl Aldridge, 2017-10-12 First published in 1979 Concern about the processes at work in Britain's urban areas coupled with steep declines in the population projections led to a review of urban and regional policies in the mid 1970s with major implications for the new towns as an element of national policy The various stages and the conclusions of this re appraisal are discussed and the new towns role in the supposed urban crisis is analysed This title will be of interest to students of urban studies and development General Observations on British New Town Planning Jack A. Underhill, United States. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Office of International Affairs, 1973 Lessons from the British and French New Towns David Fée, Bob Colenutt, Sabine Coady Schäbitz, 2020-11-18 This book explores the evolution of New Towns in France and the UK in a number of areas governance planning and heritage and assess whether their legacy can inspire current planned settlements New Towns in Israel Alexander Berler, 1970-01-01 The geographic social and economic structure of settlement areas must be considered in overall regional planning Beginning with a review of the development of new urban settlements in Israel since 1948 Berler analyzes proposals and policies dealing with underdeveloped areas and includes a proposal for a regional focalization program He attempts to establish methods and criteria to measure the power of attraction of the new urban settlements and to help understand the complex processes which influence development of towns in Israel Numerous diagrams tables maps appendixes and bibliographies complete this comprehensive study Ferreira, J. V., Jha, S. S. (Eds.): The Outlook Tower: Essays on Urbanization in Memory of Patrick Geddes , Eco and Low-Carbon New Towns in China Yang Fu, Xiaoling Zhang, 2020-12-27 This book examines the sustainability transition theory in the context of urbanization in China tracing the development of eco and low carbon cities It examines how ideas on building eco cities and low carbon cities travel from nation to nation how they are adopted in the Chinese administrative context and what role inter scalar actors play in getting the ideas transferred translated and operationalized on the ground Offering an overarching theoretical framework that incorporates all urban sustainability experiments in China the book conducts a comprehensive analysis of the master plans of these new towns and summarizes the normative transition targets of sustainable urban experiments It explores how they differ from each other and how they influence transition dynamics in practice By examining four eco and low carbon new towns deemed representative of current major approaches to sustainability transition management in China the book provides a detailed depiction of generic transition management and explains the different transitional trajectories for each type of sustainable urban experiment It demonstrates how subnational level and city level transitions mediate the national transition Through a thorough inquiry into inter scalar dynamics institutional arrangements and techno social innovations in sustainable urban experiments the book links generalized transition rules and specific contexts to present a full view of the challenges failures and territorial problems of eco and low carbon new towns This book makes a novel contribution to the study of Chinese urbanization by revisiting issues and problems of contemporary urban China The reflection on these urban issues will provide implications to policymakers professionals and the common reader interested in the future sustainable urbanism in China Foreign Publications Accessions List United States. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Office of International Affairs,1977

The Planning of a New Town London County Council,2015-03-05 The publication of The Planning of a New Town in 1961 aroused remarkable interest Its pages described a private new town sponsored by the London County Council LCC to be built at Hook in Hampshire a scheme that innovatively combined Garden City New Town traditions with sensitivity to modern design At its heart lay a multilevel and megastructural town centre intended to serve as a genuine focus for the gathering community featuring shops and amenities placed on a pedestrian deck with cars and servicing beneath The report itself proved extremely popular even though the New Town had fallen foul of political opposition at local and national levels and had been abandoned before any construction took place It offers an insight into the flux of ideas that surrounded New Town development in the early 1960s Analysing the world as it might have been not only identifies choices that were once available for shaping the built environment it also often reveals once cherished hopes and aspirations about how people might live in cities

Beyond Kolkata Ishita Dey,Ranabir Samaddar,Suhit K. Sen,2016-03-23 This book examines the politics behind and the socio economic and ecological repercussions of the making of a new township variously called New Town Megacity or Jyoti Basu Nagar in Rajarhat near Kolkata Conceived by the West Bengal state government in the mid 1990s in pandering to the vision of urban planners of creating a hi tech town beyond an unruly crowded Kolkata and feeding the hunger of realtors and developers the city is built on the foundations of coercive even violent land acquisition state largesse and corruption and at the cost of erasing a self sufficient subsistence economy and despoiling a fragile environment Yet after its completion and departure of construction labour the new town appears as a necropolis a ghost city that belies its promised image of an urban utopia even as the displaced locals lead a precarious mobile existence as transit labour engaged in odd and informal jobs Written on the basis of intensive fieldwork government documents court records and chronicles of public protests this book broadly analyses the politics and economics of urbanisation in the age of post colonial capitalism particularly the paradoxical combination of neoliberal and primitive modes of capital accumulation upon which the global emergence of new towns is based Departing from the dominant styles of urban studies that focus on cultural or spatial analysis of cities the authors show the links between changes in space technology political economy class composition and forms of urban politics which give concrete shape to a city It will immensely interest those in sociology political science economics development studies urban studies policy and governance studies and history
