Fears and Hopes for European Urbanization T. Malmberg, M. Tvrdý, 2012-12-06 Urbanization is a process taking place in our society which is changing from a predominantly rural and agrarian society into a predominantly urban and industrial one This is a transformation which is not just taking place in certain areas it is not merely a concentration of houses and of people and of activities but what is perhaps much more important it is also a change in the way of life Although there are regional differences which exist within every nation and between the nations of Europe the process is a general one it is omnipresent Whether the country is rich or poor it still spends between 15% and 25% of all invested capital on the formation of physical assets housing for example It uses another 15% to 20% on various urban services roads utilities Including domestic power this means that everywhere about half of the investment resources available are spent on the process of urbanization Much more significant than this financial way of indicating the importance of urban society and of the urbanization process but much less clearly expressed in figures is the fact that it is in the cities that the great evolutions are taking place from the society of the present towards the society of the future The big cities and conurbations are the breeding grounds of technological innovation of new forms of organization of the creation of new activities of new social relations and of new forms of culture
