The Horror Tales of a Conan Doyle Volume III the Brazilian Cat Arthur Conan Doyle, Sir, 2012-10-09 In the light of the lantern I saw the bars sliding slowly before me Already there was an opening a foot wide at the farther end With a scream I seized the last bar with my hands and pulled with the strength of a madman I WAS a madman with rage and horror For a minute or more I held the thing motionless I knew that he was straining with all his force upon the handle and that the leverage was sure to overcome me I gave inch by inch my feet sliding along the stones and all the time I begged and prayed this inhuman monster to save me from this horrible death I conjured him by his kinship I reminded him that I was his guest I begged to know what harm I had ever done him His only answers were the tugs and jerks upon the handle each of which in spite of all my struggles pulled another bar through the opening Clinging and clutching I was dragged across the whole front of the cage until at last with aching wrists and lacerated fingers I gave up the hopeless struggle Index to Short Stories, 1929 Index to Short Stories--Supplement Ina Ten Eyck Firkins, 1929

Bestiarium Cryptozoologicum Chad Arment, 2010-11-22 23 short stories for cryptozoology and cryptofiction enthusiasts with strange creatures and beasts from the past from mammoths to giant snakes cave dwellers to sky beasts Stories include those by such well known authors as Jack London H G Wells and Arthur Conan Doyle as well as several which have only just been dug up and reprinted for the first time here Tales of Unease Arthur Conan Doyle, 2000 HORROR and we shudder at the thing in the next room in Lot 249 Sit down in your uneasy chair and enjoy this unique collection of chillers Informal Empire in Latin America Matthew Brown, 2009-04-20 This volume is an interdisciplinary interrogation of the concept of British informal empire in Latin America It builds upon recent advances in the historiography of imperialism and studies of the nineteenth century modern world most obviously the work of Ann Stoler Catherine Hall and C A Bayly Combining a comparative perspective with the juxtaposition of political economy cultural history gendered and postcolonial approaches and by proposing and debating alternative explanatory models the book breathes new life into the flagging concept of informal empire It illuminates the study of British imperialism from which Latin America is usually conspicuous only by its absence and provides a broad and sound basis for interpreting the complex processes of nation building and state formation in Latin America The book includes essays by scholars who have been shaping the debate for several decades alongside work by a younger generation of researchers keen to re conceptualise and re assess the roles of capital commerce and culture in shaping informal empire
