The Burmathailand Railway Of Death:

The Burma-Thailand Railway of Death E. R. Hall, 1981 Last Man Out H. Robert Charles, 2006 From June 1942 to October 1943 more than 100 000 Allied POWs who had been forced into slave labor by the Japanese died building the infamous Burma Thailand Death Railway an undertaking immortalized in the film The Bridge on the River Kwai One of the few who survived was American Marine H Robert Charles who describes the ordeal in vivid and harrowing detail in Last Man Out The story mixes the unimaginable brutality of the camps with the inspiring courage of the men including a Dutch Colonial Army doctor whose skill and knowledge of the medicinal value of wild jungle herbs saved the lives of hundreds of his fellow POWs including the author The Thailand-Burma Railway, 1942-1946: Voluntary accounts Paul H. Kratoska, 2006

One Fourteenth of an Elephant Ian Denys Peek, 2003 Memoirs of an Australian prisoner of war after the fall of Singapore in World War II Traces the author's capture and transportation to Thailand as part of the prisoner labour force for the Burma Thailand railway and the three years of hardship that followed as a slave labourer Written in present tense the author relates his experiences moving from camp to camp as well as his stubborn refusal to die Includes author's note with glossary of foreign words and maps Building the Death Railway Robert Sherman La Forte, Ronald E. Marcello, 1993 Generosity amid the greatest cruelty Building the Death Railway gives the American perspective on events that shocked the world The Camps of the Death Railway BEN. GREHAN LUTO (JOHN.), John Grehan, 2025-05-30 As the terrible conditions experienced by the British Australian Dutch and American PoWs in the building of railway linking Buma and Thailand became known as well as the appalling atrocities the men suffered at the hands of the Japanese it was clear that an investigation would have to be undertaken Before war trials began the Japanese submitted their account of the building of the railway which is presented here What is also presented are the stories from the prisoners themselves from each of the camps telling in stark unflinching detail what really happened to them Drawn entirely from first hand accounts a picture emerges of men being driven to very heavy manual labour without boots to protect their feet from injuries which resulted in tropical ulcers and the amputation of untreatable limbs with nothing but a wood saw Of men dying of cholera in their hundreds of stinking maggot ridden open latrines and campgrounds covered in faeces from dysentery sufferers With virtually no medical equipment or medicines the Allied medical officers faced an unwinnable battle to save the lives of men so weakened from hunger and unremitting work at times for eighteen hours a day they could not fight off the multiple diseases which were endemic in the depths of the Thai and Burmese jungles As more and more prisoners became ill the number available for work on the railway diminished But with orders to finish the railway ahead of time the Japanese forced prisoners from their hospital beds out to work many of whom never returned When Allied officers tried to intervene to protect their men they were subjected beating from the Japanese and Korean guards Other brutal punishments sometimes fatal were handed out to the prisoners frequently for no accountable reason Conditions were so intolerable some prisoners tried to escape only to die in the jungle or be recaptured and executed Others simply gave up all hope and died quite literally of despair There were of course lighter moments amid the misery Elephants were used to pull heavy logs When an extra load was added to that of one elephant the animal refused to move As the normal method adopted by the Japanese with uncooperative prisoners was to give them a beating one of the guards hit the elephant The elephant roared and charged after him chasing the terrified guard into the River Kwai and squirted water at him through his trunk Through sheer determination in some cases or mere good fortune many men survived the horrors of the camps to tell the world of what was one of the most dreadful humanitarian disasters of the Second World War This is their story Death Railway Oralee

Andrino,2021-05-27 Allied POWs experienced inhumane treatment and endured torture by Japanese forces Not only were the long days of the POWs filled with harsh labor and punctuated by physical abuse but also the prisoners were provided with grossly inadequate food The daily food allotment typically included small portions of boiled rice and spoiled meat or fish rations were routinely contaminated with rat droppings and infested with maggots In addition there was a lack of potable water Consequently the prisoners were malnourished dehydrated and predisposed to illness These factors compounded by the unsanitary conditions in the work camps and the tropical environment meant that disease was rampant Dysentery and diarrhea were responsible for more than one third of all deaths on the railway Other diseases included cholera malaria and tropical ulcers For anyone seeking information on the daily life of an ordinary British soldier as a POW of the Japanese in WW2 working on the Burma Siam railway this is the right place for you Prisoners of the Home Front Martin F.

Auger,2011-11-01 In the middle of the most destructive conflict in human history almost 40 000 Germans civilians and prisoners of war were detained in internment and work camps across Canada Five internment camps were located on the southern shores of the St Lawrence River in the province of Quebec at Farnham Grande Ligne le aux Noix Sherbrooke and Sorel Prisoners of the Home Front details the organization and day to day affairs of these internment camps and reveals the experience of their inmates Martin Auger shows how internment imposed psychological and physical strain in the form of restricted mobility sexual deprivation social alienation and lack of physical comfort In response Canadian authorities introduced labour projects and education programs to uphold morale thwart internal turmoil and prevent escapes These initiatives were also intended to expose prisoners to the values of a democratic society and prepare them for postwar reintegration Auger concludes that Canada abided by the Geneva Convention its treatment of German prisoners was humane Prisoners of the Home Front sheds light on life behind barbed wire filling an important void in our knowledge of the Canadian home front during the Second World War Australia's War Crimes Trials 1945-51 Georgina

Fitzpatrick,Timothy L.H. McCormack,Narrelle Morris,2016-08-29 This unique volume provides a detailed analysis of Australia s 300 war crimes trials of principally Japanese accused conducted in the immediate aftermath of the Second World War Part I contains contextual essays explaining why Australia established military courts to conduct these trials and thematic essays considering various legal issues in and historical perspectives on the trials Part II offers a comprehensive collection of eight location essays one each for the physical locations where the trials were held In Part III post trial issues are reviewed such as the operation of compounds for war criminals the repatriation of convicted Japanese war criminals to serve the remainder of their sentences and reflections of some of those convicted on their experience of the trials In the final essay a contemporary reflection on the fairness of the trials is provided not on the basis of a twenty first century critique of contemporary minimum standards of fair trial expected in the prosecution of war crimes but by reviewing approaches taken in the trials themselves as well as from reactions to the trials by those associated with them The essays are supported by a large collection of unique historical photographs maps and statistical materials There has been no systematic and comprehensive analysis of these trials so far which has meant that they are virtually precluded from consideration as judicial precedent This volume fills that gap and offers scholars and practitioners an important and groundbreaking resource Hell Under the Rising Sun Kelly E. Crager, 2008 Late in 1940 the young men of the 2nd Battalion 131st Field Artillery Regiment stepped off the trucks at Camp Bowie in Brownwood Texas ready to complete the training they would need for active duty in World War II This title includes personal memoirs and oral history interviews of the Lost Battalion members
