Richard, 2016-02-29 Justin Imperiale is visited by a man from the giant eastern Empire of Khoten The man has a problem and the Crown of Kho the legendary crown of the Emperor of Khoten Justin then prepares to visit Khoten and perhaps to rule Khoten However Justin still must beware of a fight with Arvion demi god of the sky Justin has any number of battles military battles unarmed combat battles and even sword battles In addition to the battles Justin visits the fourth dimensional universe in a paranormal adventure A Chance for Change Crystal R. Sanders, 2016-02-10 In this innovative study Crystal Sanders explores how working class black women in collaboration with the federal government created the Child Development Group of Mississippi CDGM in 1965 a Head Start program that not only gave poor black children access to early childhood education but also provided black women with greater opportunities for political activism during a crucial time in the unfolding of the civil rights movement Women who had previously worked as domestics and sharecroppers secured jobs through CDGM as teachers and support staff and earned higher wages The availability of jobs independent of the local white power structure afforded these women the freedom to vote in elections and petition officials without fear of reprisal But CDGM's success antagonized segregationists at both the local and state levels who eventually defunded it Tracing the stories of the more than 2 500 women who staffed Mississippi's CDGM preschool centers Sanders's book remembers women who went beyond teaching children their shapes and colors to challenge the state's closed political system and white supremacist ideology and offers a profound example for future community organizing in the South The Gates of Chance Van Suthphen, 2018-09-24 The card that had been thrust into my hand had pencilled upon it Call at 4020 Madison Avenue at a quarter before eight this evening Below in copper plate was engraved the name Mr Esper Indiman It was one of those abnormally springlike days that New York sometimes experiences at the latter end of March days when negligee shirts and last summer's straw hats make a sporadic appearance and bucolic weather prophets write letters to the afternoon papers abusing the sun spots Really it was hot and I was anxious to get out of the dust and glare it would be cool at the club and I intended dining there The time was half past six the height of the homeward rush hours and as usual there was a jam of vehicles and pedestrians at the Fourth Avenue and Twenty third Street crossing The subway contractors were still at work here and the available street space was choked with their stagings and temporary

footwalks The inevitable consequent was congestion here were two of the principal thoroughfares of the city crossing each other at right angles and with hardly enough room at the point of intersection for the traffic of one The confusion grew worse as the policemen and signalmen stationed at the crossing occasionally lost their heads every now and then a new block would form and several minutes would elapse before it could be broken In all directions long lines of yellow electric cars stood stalled the impatient passengers looking ahead to discover the cause of the trouble A familiar enough experience to the modern New Yorker yet it never fails to exasperate him afresh
