Snake Alarm:

Snakes Stephen J. Mullin, Richard A. Seigel, 2009 In the first book on snakes written with a focus on conservation editors Stephen J Mullin and Richard A Seigel bring together leading herpetologists to review and synthesize the ecology conservation and management of snakes worldwide

The Red Colobus Monkeys Thomas T. Struhsaker, 2010-04-01 Based on field studies spanning nearly 40 years this reference book summarizes and integrates past research with new and previously unpublished information on the behavioral ecology of Africa's red colobus monkeys from study sites as diverse as Senegal Uganda and Zanzibar It provides an unparalleled compilation of information on taxonomy genetics vocalizations demography social organization dispersal social behavior reproduction mortality factors diet ranging patterns interspecific relations and conservation Social relationships in red colobus are less rigidly structured than in other African monkeys resulting in considerable variation in social organization and group composition both within and between taxa This provides a unique opportunity to examine the extent to which social variables correlate with differences in habitat quality demography and predation by chimpanzees and humans Unfortunately at least half of the 18 taxa of red colobus are now threatened with extinction Conservation problems are described causal factors identified and solutions proposed This volume is intended not only to serve as a reference book but to stimulate and guide future long term research and to encourage effective conservation action

Readings in Zoosemiotics Timo Maran, Dario Martinelli, Aleksei Turovski, 2011-11-30 The book is the first annotated reader to focus specifically on the discipline of zoosemiotics Zoosemiotics can be defined today as the study of signification communication and representation within and across animal species The name for the field was proposed in 1963 by the American semiotician Thomas A Sebeok He also established the framework for the paradigm by finding and tightening connections to predecessors describing terminology developing methodology and setting directions for possible future studies The volume includes a wide selection of original texts accompanied by editorial introductions An extensive opening introduction discusses the place of zoosemiotics among other sciences as well as its inner dimensions the understanding of the concept of communication in zoosemiotics the heritage of biologist Jakob von Uexküll contemporary developments in zoosemiotics and other issues Chapter introductions discuss the background of the authors and selected texts as well as other relevant texts The selected texts cover a wide range of topics such as semiotic constitution of nature cognitive capabilities of animals typology of animal expression and many other issues The roots of zoosemiotics can be traced back to the works of David Hume and John Locke Great emphasis is placed on the heritage of Thomas A Sebeok and a total of four of his essays are included The Reader also includes influential studies in animal communication honey bee dance language vervet monkey alarm calls as well as theory elaborations by Gregory Bateson and others The reader concludes with a section dedicated to contemporary research Readings in Zoosemiotics is intended as a primary source of information about zoosemiotics and also provides additional readings for students of cognitive ethology and animal communication studies

The Fear of Snakes Nobuyuki Kawai, 2019-09-05 This book provides a series of compelling evidence that shows that humans have innate fear of snakes Building on the previous studies on the Snake Detection Theory SDT the author presents a summary of psychological and neuropsychological experiments to explain the fear of snakes in humans and primates Readers will come to understand why and how we are afraid of snakes from an evolutionary perspective The first half of the book discusses the history of psychological behaviorism and neobehaviorism The latter half of the book consists mainly of the experimental studies performed by the author with a focus on three key items First compared with other animals snakes especially draw the attention of primates and humans Second the ability of primates and humans to recognize snakes with particular efficiency Third processing mechanisms within the brain for snake detection is discussed from a new viewpoint The book offers a unique resource for all primatologists psychologists neuroscientists anthropologists herpetologists and biologists who are interested in the evolution of visual and cognitive systems mechanisms of fear snakes or primates

Behavior and Culture in One Dimension Dennis Waters, 2021-03-08 Behavior and Culture in One Dimension adopts a broad interdisciplinary approach presenting a unified theory of sequences and their functions and an overview of how they underpin the evolution of complexity Sequences of DNA guide the functioning of the living world sequences of speech and writing choreograph the intricacies of human culture and sequences of code oversee the operation of our literate technological civilization These linear patterns function under their own rules which have never been fully explored It is time for them to get their due This book explores the one dimensional sequences that orchestrate the structure and behavior of our three dimensional habitat Using Gibsonian concepts of perception action and affordances as well as the works of Howard Pattee the book examines the role of sequences in the human behavioral and cultural world of speech writing and mathematics The book offers a Darwinian framework for understanding human cultural evolution and locates the two major informational transitions in the origins of life and civilization It will be of interest to students and researchers in ecological psychology linguistics cognitive science and the social and biological sciences Mammal Societies Tim

Clutton-Brock, 2016-04-20 The book aims to integrate our understanding of mammalian societies into a novel synthesis that is relevant to behavioural ecologists ecologists and anthropologists It adopts a coherent structure that deals initially with the characteristics and strategies of females before covering those of males cooperative societies and hominid societies It reviews our current understanding both of the structure of societies and of the strategies of individuals it combines coverage of relevant areas of theory with coverage of interspecific comparisons intraspecific comparisons and experiments it explores both evolutionary causes of different traits and their ecological consequences and it integrates research on different groups of mammals with research on primates and humans and attempts to put research on human societies into a broader perspective Language Evolution Morten H. Christiansen, Simon Kirby, 2003-07-24 What is it that makes us human This is one of the most challenging and important questions we face Our species defining characteristic is language we appear to be unique in the natural world in having such an incredibly open ended system for putting thoughts into words If we are to truly understand ourselves as a species we must understand the origins of this strange and unique ability To do so we need to answer some of the most intriguing questions in contemporary scientific research Where did language come from How did it evolve Why are we unique in possessing it This book for the first time brings together the leading thinkers who are trying to unlock the puzzle of language evolution Here we see the latest ideas and theories from fields as diverse as anthropology archaeology artificial life biology cognitive science linguistics neuroscience and psychology In a series of seventeen well written and accessible chapters we get an unrivalled view of the state of the art in this exciting area Current controversies are revealed and new perspectives uncovered in a clear and readable guide to the latest theories This collection marks a major step forward in our quest to understand the origins and evolution of human language In doing so it sheds new light on the process of evolution the workings of the brain the structure of language and most importantly what it means to be human Language Evolution is essential reading for researchers and students working in the areas covered and has been used as a textbook for courses in the field It will also attract the general reader who wants to know more about this fascinating subject

Process Approaches to Consciousness in Psychology, Neuroscience, and Philosophy of Mind Michel

Weber, Anderson Weekes, 2009-11-18 This collection opens a dialogue between process philosophy and contemporary consciousness studies Approaching consciousness from diverse disciplinary perspectives philosophy psychology neuroscience neuropathology psychotherapy biology animal ethology and physics the contributors offer empirical and philosophical support for a model of consciousness inspired by the process philosophy of Alfred North Whitehead 1861 1947 Whitehead's model is developed in ways he could not have anticipated to show how it can advance current debates beyond well known sticking points This has trenchant consequences for epistemology and suggests fresh and promising new perspectives on such topics as the mind body problem the neurobiology of consciousness animal consciousness the evolution of consciousness panpsychism the unity of consciousness epiphenomenalism free will and causation Manipulative Monkeys Susan

Perry, 2011-03-11 This book takes us into a Costa Rican forest teeming with simian drama where since 1990 primatologists Perry and Manson have followed four generations of capuchins The authors describe behavior as entertaining and occasionally as alarming as it is recognizable Theory of Knowledge for the IB Diploma Richard van de

Lagemaat, 2014-11-20 Written by experienced practitioners this resource for Theory of Knowledge for the IB Diploma offers comprehensive coverage of and support for the new subject guide This edition of Theory of Knowledge for the IB Diploma is fully revised for first examination in September 2015 The coursebook is a comprehensive original and accessible approach to Theory of Knowledge which covers all aspects of the revised subject guide A fresh design ensures the content is accessible and user friendly and there is detailed guidance on how to approach the TOK essay and presentation This edition supports the stronger emphasis on the distinction between personal and shared knowledge and the new areas of knowledge religion
